* Please be aware that as part of the National Football League's agreement with NBC to televise Sunday Night Football, the NFL has implemented a flexible schedule for Sunday start times for the final eight weeks of the season.

This will allow the NFL to bring more attractive match-ups to a national audience late in the season. If any of the 49ers games are moved from the original start time, fans will be notified 12 days prior to the date of the game with the exception of a Week 17 game, where the notification will be six days to ensure a Sunday Night game with playoff implications. Starting time changes will be publicized on 49ers.com and through the local print, electronic and internet media

Future San Francisco Schedules

The NFL expanded to 32 teams in 2002 with the addition of the Houston Texans. In addition, the NFL realigned for the first time since 1970—into eight divisions of four teams each—and the scheduling formula that was introduced guarantees for the first time that all teams play each other on a regular, rotating basis. Although the number of teams has increased to 32, the number of playoff teams remains the same at 12.

From 2002-2009, every team will play every other team at least twice. After the 2009 season, a decision will be made on whether to continue with the same rotation or modify it.

Under the NFL scheduling formula, every team within a division plays 16 games as follows:

- Home and away against its three division opponents (6 games).
- The four teams from another division within its conference on a rotating three-year cycle (4 games).
- The four teams from a division in the other conference on a rotating four-year cycle (4 games).
- Two intraconference games based on the prior year's standings (2 games). These games will match a first-place team against the first-place teams in the two same-conference divisions the team is not scheduled to play that season. The second-place, third-place, and fourth-place teams in a conference will be matched in the same way each year.

DENISE DEBARTOLO YORK AND JOHN YORK
OWNERS

Denise and John York bring long and distinguished careers in sports and business to their roles as owners of the San Francisco 49ers, creating an organization that adheres to their core family values of success and community leadership.

The York family is committed to creating a winning team both on and off the field. From their passion for building a championship team to their deep involvement in community partnerships and the local business community, they are proud to be the leaders of the 49ers Faithful.

"The first goal of the 49ers is to win football games, and there's nothing I love more than a win," John explained. But there's more to the 49ers than just leading on the field. "Our family is also passionate about the 49ers leading Bay Area sports franchises in our service to our community and being great partners in our business relations," Denise said.

FOOTBALL – A YORK PASSION

For both Denise and John, football is in their blood. Since her father, Edward DeBartolo Sr., purchased the 49ers in 1977, Denise has been an integral part of over three decades of 49ers football, including 30 playoff contests and five Super Bowl victories. John has been a member of the 49ers Faithful since growing up in Little Rock, Arkansas, and watching greats like John Brodie and R.C. Owens light up his living room TV screen.

Denise and John have taken the opportunity to act on their passion for the team they always loved by taking significant steps on and off the field to forge a top NFL team and Bay Area community partner.

The couple has committed to assembling leaders with the kind of exemplary talent it takes to uphold the 49ers' celebrated history and compete for championships. They have hired the best coaches, players and front office personnel, and are pushing ahead with plans to build a new, state-of-the-art NFL stadium in the Bay Area.

Their passion for football stems from devoting much of their careers to professional sports. John, a successful entrepreneur, spent years as Senior Vice President/Director of Racing Operations for the DeBartolo Corporation, instituting programs designed to increase fan participation and enhance the overall value of the racing portfolio. Denise, an accomplished business leader, also served as President of the Pittsburgh Penguins hockey team and was one of only a few female executives in the NHL. She was instrumental in revitalizing a dormant franchise into a championship team, drafting future superstars Mario Lemieux and Jaromir Jagr, and becoming the first woman to have her name engraved on Lord Stanley's Cup.

Denise and John's dedication to the game of football extends to the top levels of the NFL, where John is the Chairman of the NFL's International Committee and also sits on the League's Audit and Business Ventures Committees, while Denise is an active member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame Committee.

PUTTING TOGETHER A WINNING FORMULA

An important outcome of the Yorks' total commitment to winning was the installation of Head Coach Mike Nolan in 2005. A born teacher of the game, Nolan has brought a sense of confidence, structure and most importantly, a much-needed identity to the 49ers. With his coaching staff, Nolan is delivering on the club's determination to build a winning franchise based on great coaching, solid player development, and savvy additions of key veterans and draft choices.

The Yorks felt it was important that there be an exemplary group supporting Nolan in his efforts. As a result, Nolan has brought on board lauded coaches, including renowned Offensive Coordinator Mike Martz, former NFL linebacker and now astute Defensive Coordinator Greg Manusky, and Hall of Fame linebacker and now Assistant Head Coach Mike Singletary. Denise and John also brought on Keena Turner, a member of four of the 49ers' Super Bowl championship teams and one of the club's all-time greats at linebacker, as Vice President of Football Affairs. Turner serves as an advisor to the coaching staff and heads the team's counseling, faith-based and player development programs to help players reach their full potential.

"Since I accepted this position, Denise and John have not wavered in their commitment to provide the 49ers with the best coaching staff and support staff that I could assemble," Nolan said. "John has listened to Scot McCloughan and me to acquire the players we need to compete for a championship."

Denise and John have cultivated an environment where veteran players such as defensive lineman Isaac Sopoaga and quarterback Shaun Hill re-signed with the club rather than testing the free agent market, and new players such as defensive end Justin Smith, a former first-round draft pick, and four-time Pro Bowl wide receiver Isaac Bruce signed with the team.

The couple has also made significant additions to the front office staff including the hiring of Scot McCloughan in 2005, who now serves as the 49ers' General Manager. Spearheading four NFL Drafts in San Francisco, McCloughan has unearthed a wealth of young talent including running back Frank Gore, linebacker Patrick Willis and offensive lineman Joe Staley. He has also been able to recruit athletic free agents to provide veteran leadership and add depth to the team's roster. To provide additional leadership to the organization, Denise and John brought on Lal Heneghan as Executive Vice President of Football Administration and Paraag Marathe as Director of Football Operations.

IN TOUCH WITH FANS

John York's first and deepest connection with the 49ers is as a lifelong fan.

"My best memories of growing up are lying on my living room floor in Little Rock and watching the 49ers on TV," John said. "Little Rock didn't have an NFL team, so I got to choose who 'my' team was, and I fell in love with the 49ers, with John Brodie throwing passes to R.C. Owens. I share those memories of the great history of this franchise with the rest of the 49ers Faithful."

As owner of the 49ers, John enjoys sharing those memories with fans, many of whom, like John, trace their love for the team back to the early days at old Kezar Stadium. In their visits throughout the Bay Area, and on game days both home and away, Denise and John are also enthusiastic about meeting a younger generation of the 49ers Faithful.

"When we're on the road, I'm able to go around the field and visit with many 49ers fans who have come a long way to cheer on our team," John said. "They come early and want to say hello, get autographs and watch the team warm up. I've gotten into the habit of always bringing something with me to share. If there are children involved, I always invite some of them to join me on the field for the pregame – what I would have wished for as a kid."

In their efforts to extend the interaction between the 49ers Faithful, players and coaches, Denise and John have opened a portion of the team's training camp at its Santa Clara training facility each year since 2005. Over the past three years, more than 100,000 49ers fans have had the opportunity to preview and meet the team before the first snap was taken during the season.

"Training camp is another great way to let our fans get in touch with both the players and coaches," Denise explained. "John and I love being able to share our excitement about the team and the upcoming season with so many of our fans. It's a special part of the year for us."

MAKING A DIFFERENCE IN THE BAY AREA

Besides providing the team with the tools for success on game day, Denise and John also provide thousands of people in our community with the tools they need to succeed in life. Under their leadership, the team's community outreach programs and 49ers Foundation have grown tremendously.

Under the couple's direction, the team's community outreach efforts took a significant step in 2006, with the launch of the "Respect Campaign," which works with youth to impart the value of respect in three important areas of their lives: families, schools and communities. Last year, 49ers players, coaches, staff and alumni participated in 170 community events throughout the Bay Area and donated more than 3,500 hours of volunteer time.

Closest to Denise and John's hearts is the 49ers Foundation, founded in 1991 and one of the first charitable foundations started by a sports franchise. Under their leadership, the 49ers Foundation has grown from raising and donating $200,000 per year to Bay Area non-profit organizations to a record $1.5 million in 2007, bringing the total to more than $5.5 million over the last five years.

John York greets 49ers fans in Arizona.

John York and Denise DeBartolo York with NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell.

Both Denise and John personally head many of the Foundation's activities, making frequent visits at the 49ers Academy, a classroom program serving sixth, seventh and eighth grade at-risk students in East Palo Alto. They periodically drop in to work with students in the Academy's small, nurturing and personalized environment.

"My father was the son of immigrants and my mom was a teacher in the inner-city," said Denise. "They saw firsthand the value of a good education as a stepping stone to a better life. I try to impart that value to the children at the 49ers Academy."

The Yorks have also continued to emphasize the importance of the Foundation's involvement in the Bayview/Hunters Point neighborhood in San Francisco.

Along with Denise and John, the club's players, alumni, coaches and staff frequently visit the Bayview/Hunters Point YMCA, donate tickets to the youth and financially support the YMCA's programs. Most recently, the 49ers Foundation pledged $250,000 over a five-year period to renovate the facility. John was on hand to help Bayview community leaders cut the ceremonial red ribbon in 2005, in honor of the grand opening of the YMCA's gymnasium.

Denise and John also have continued to support the efforts of the Hunters Point Boys & Girls Club, one of the Foundation's yearly beneficiaries. Their partnership with the City and the San Francisco Giants has helped to expand recreational opportunities for youth in one of the most underserved neighborhoods in the Bay Area.

The couple was recently honored with the 2008 Silicon Valley Exemplary Community Leadership Award by Silicon Valley FACES, a non-profit organization dedicated to fighting bias and racism in the South Bay Area. In 2005, Denise and John were honored with the Outstanding Corporate Philanthropy Award at the Catholic Charities/Catholic Youth Organization's Loaves & Fishes Dinner for their remarkable contributions to the San Francisco community.

The couple's passion for community involvement extends beyond the Bay Area as well. When the 49ers traveled to New Orleans to play the Saints in December of 2006, Denise, John and Jed York, 49ers Foundation board members, 49ers staff and team partners extended a helping hand. The group spent that Saturday painting the school cafeteria at Bunche Accelerated Academy in the New Orleans suburb of Jefferson Parish. The Academy was severely damaged in the wake of Hurricane Katrina. The school's library lost its roof and its book supply was reduced from 15,000 to a mere 300. To help the Academy rebuild, Denise and John presented the school with a surprise $20,000 check on behalf of the 49ers Foundation. The donation was used to purchase much-needed items to help the students succeed in their classrooms.

Denise and John are also frequently recognized for their support of the Mahoning Valley, Ohio community. The couple was recently honored with the Youngstown Hearing & Speech Center's 2008 Great Communicators Award to recognize their philanthropic leadership. In 2007, they were inducted into the Curbstone Coaches Hall of Fame in Boardman, Ohio for generously giving their time and resources to the Mahoning Valley area. In total, the two have provided more $250 million to various Mahoning Valley organizations, including $500,000 to the Youngstown State University women's athletic program in 2002.

ABOUT DENISE DeBARTOLO YORK

With nearly 30 years in the fields of sports management and real estate development and operations, Denise DeBartolo York is one of the most successful businesswomen in the United States. She serves as Chairman of The DeBartolo Corporation and oversees the Corporation's portfolio, which includes the 49ers.

Since 2002, Denise has been regularly nominated to the San Francisco Business Times "Most Influential Women in Business" for heading one of the largest women-owned businesses in the Bay Area. For her numerous achievements, she was inducted into the National Italian American Sports Hall of Fame in Chicago, Illinois in 2003.

Before becoming Chairman of The DeBartolo Corporation, Denise held the position of Executive Vice President of Personnel and Corporate Marketing/Communications for The Edward J. DeBartolo Corporation (EJDC). Based on her accomplishments, she was elevated to the position of Vice Chairman in 1994. Denise was named Chairman later that year after the death of her father, Edward J. DeBartolo Sr.

When she's not making decisions in the boardroom, Denise spends much of her time giving back in both the Bay Area and the communities near her childhood home of Boardman, a suburb of Youngstown, Ohio.

Denise's ongoing support and advocacy on behalf of San Francisco's Mission High School led to the creation of the annual Denise DeBartolo York Award, recognizing individuals who make a difference for the school's students. Denise first got involved with the school in 2002 when she received word of the condition of the athletic program and immediately provided uniforms and funding for several of the teams. Her efforts on behalf of the Mission District school continue today.

Denise has also been instrumental in the development of athletic fields throughout the Bay Area. Through a partnership with the NFL Youth Football Fund, she has helped secure funding for a new football field and facility in South San Francisco's Crocker-Amazon Park in 2002; a synthetic sports playing surface at San Francisco's Burton High School in 2004; a newly renovated surface at Ronald McNair Field at the 49ers Academy in 2005; and a new field at Galileo High School, located in San Francisco's Marina neighborhood, in 2008.

Continuing her father's strong belief in education, Denise has awarded more than $400,000 in scholarships to high school seniors in the Mahoning Valley through the Edward J. DeBartolo Memorial Scholarship Foundation, which was established upon his death in 1994. Additionally, she is the campaign chairperson and major donor for the Youngstown Diocese Catholic Education scholarship league, and chairperson of "Operation Education," a fundraising effort by Youngstown's Catholic High Schools.

As a member of Ursuline Sisters Financial Advisory Board, Denise assisted in developing and implementing a massive fundraising drive in 1991 for the construction of a new preschool, kindergarten and adult education center. In 2001, Denise took the lead in a second fundraising effort for the assembly of an additional school building for inner-city children by providing leadership and several millions of dollars of financial assistance.

Denise graduated from University of Notre Dame's sister college, St. Mary's College.

ABOUT JOHN YORK

JED YORK
VICE PRESIDENT OF STRATEGIC PLANNING/ OWNER

As Vice President of Strategic Planning/Owner of the San Francisco 49ers, Jed York is responsible for the integration of brand strategies and projects related to the long-term operational and financial development of the organization. He is a key member of the project team working towards the construction of a new stadium for the 49ers in the Bay Area.

Previously, he held the position of Director of Strategic Planning, where he aided the restructuring of the coaching and player personnel departments, including the hiring of Head Coach Mike Nolan and General Manager Scot McCloughan. York joined the organization in 2005, where he held the position of Special Projects Manager. In that capacity, he spent time learning how each department works together to achieve the team's goals both on the field and in the community.

In June of 2007, York was elected to the Board of Directors for the Bayview Hunter's Point YMCA, which has been a major beneficiary of the 49ers Foundation.

York began his career as a financial analyst at Guggenheim Partners, a diversified financial services firm, prior to his work with the 49ers. He worked in the firm's New York office in several areas, including private wealth management, hedge funds risk analysis, and collateralized debt obligations.

York's roots with the 49ers run deep. He is the oldest child of John and Denise York, the owners of the team. York's uncle and godfather, Eddie DeBartolo Jr., was the former owner of the 49ers. A 49ers fan since birth, Jed attended his first Niners game in 1984. His goal has always been to carry on his family's tradition of success and excellence.

Born and raised in Youngstown, OH, York was a student athlete at Cardinal Mooney High School, where he was captain of the baseball team and student body president. After high school, York decided to carry on a family tradition by attending the University of Notre Dame, where he earned a degree in both finance and history. York credits his parents, his uncle Eddie DeBartolo Jr., and his grandfather Edward DeBartolo Sr., a prolific real estate developer, as being positive role models. He credits them for instilling character values such as integrity, a strong work ethic, respect for others and a good business sense coupled with a strong commitment to community service. Besides his tremendous passion for the 49ers, York enjoys traveling, fishing, and playing cards, which he learned from his grandfather.

Jed York greets DT Bryant Young in the locker room following the 2007 season finale in Cleveland.

FRANKLIN MIEULI
49ERS LIMITED PARTNERS

Mieuli's longtime interest and love for sports sparked his future involvement in the professional sports teams that have brought him five Super Bowl championship rings as a limited partner with the 49ers and one NBA World Championship as the former owner of the Golden State Warriors.

In 1949, he accepted a position in the advertising department of the San Francisco Brewing Company, makers of Burgermeister beer. "Burgie" sponsored broadcasts of 49ers football games and in 1954, Mieuli produced the team's first telecasts. Through his business relationship and friendship with Tony and Vic Morabito, the original owners of the 49ers, Franklin was offered the opportunity to purchase a share of the club, and today still holds stake in the 49ers franchise.

When the New York Giants moved west in 1958, Horace Stoneham offered Mieuli stock in the San Francisco Giants. In 1962, Franklin and a group of his friends also purchased the Philadelphia Warriors and the San Francisco Warriors were born. He became the only sportsman to have ownerships in three major league sports teams in the same area.

In the 25 years after he acquired majority ownership, the San Francisco and now Golden State Warriors were in the playoffs ten times, won four division titles and a World Championship in 1974-75. Mieuli is the first professional sports team owner to have named an African American as his head coach, Alvin Attles, a member of the team that moved west from Philadelphia. His longtime friend has served with the Warriors as a player, head coach, administrator, vice president and assistant general manager and in his 48th year with the club, is now a Warriors' ambassador.

Simultaneously, as president of Franklin Mieuli and Associates Radio and TV Production Co., he acquired radio and TV production rights to the Giants, 49ers and Warriors' games and engineered games for the A's and Raiders' broadcasts. He produced and handled the radio coverage for the 1960 Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley with Lon Simmons, Russ Hodges, Gordy Soltau and Marty Martin as his broadcasting crew. Today, his company, managed by long-time employee Shirley Figgins Mortensen, continues to provide the radio engineering for 25 sports teams, including baseball, football, hockey and basketball, throughout the U.S. and Canada. He also owned radio stations, KPUP, (KHIP and KMPX) in San Francisco and was an owner of KTMX in Colusa, CA.

Mieuli received a degree in advertising from the University of Oregon and served a stint in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Mieuli and his former wife, Hilles Parish Cribari, are the parents of three children, seven grandchildren and five great-children. Ms. Blake Green, Mieuli's loving companion for the past 30 years, was formerly a feature writer for the San Francisco Chronicle and Newsday in New York.

SCOT MCCLOUGHAN
GENERAL MANAGER

Scot McCloughan was named General Manager for the San Francisco 49ers on January 2, 2008 after serving as Vice President of Player Personnel for his first three seasons with the team.

Said owner John York on the decision to promote McCloughan following the 2007 season, "When we hired Scot three years ago we believed over time he would be elevated to the role of general manager. Based on his performance, his abilities to evaluate talent, his leadership role, as well as his managerial style, now is that time.

"Based on my discussions with both Mike Nolan and Scot, I'm confident that the 49ers can overcome the challenges that we faced in 2007, and that we will make significant changes to correct the course we're on, and we can deliver a winning team, not only in 2008, but going forward."

Not only is McCloughan overseeing new talent that comes through the Santa Clara practice facility door, but he's also helping manage the team's salary cap and player contracts, while working hand-in-hand with Head Coach Mike Nolan in devising a personnel plan to build a young team into a powerhouse.

Upon his arrival in San Francisco from his former post as the director of college scouting for the Seattle Seahawks, McCloughan had just over two months to devise a plan for 2005 free agency and the NFL Draft.

He was in a challenging position, but possessed the track record and football pedigree to get the job done.

Heading the 49ers personnel department enabled him to return to the Bay Area, where his football roots began. The year McCloughan was born in San Leandro, CA was his father Kent's final year playing in the NFL. Kent was a standout cornerback for the Oakland Raiders from 1965-70, and was part of the 1967 Super Bowl II squad. Immediately after his final season, Kent began scouting for the Raiders, discovering talented collegiate players around the country from the family's new home in Loveland, CO.

Respected NFL executive Ron Wolf was a member of the scouting department in Oakland at the time and brought Kent on board to bolster the department. Young Scot joined his father for film sessions at the house and even traveled as his dad's sidekick on trips around the area. He watched, learned and took notes.

Football was life in the McCloughan household, and the environment quickly ceded Scot into a standout on the football team as a running back, safety and return man. He was also a star baseball player, earning a scholarship on the Wichita State team where he contributed in two collegiate World Series as a designated hitter and third-baseman.

McCloughan went on to play minor league baseball for three more years for the Toronto Blue Jays organization before football beckoned him again. It was then that Wolf re-entered the picture, this time, recruiting Kent's son to join his scouting staff in Green Bay in 1994.

McCloughan went on to comb the Midlands region for college talent for three years before he took over a slot in the Southeast territory. During that span, he was part of two Packers' Super Bowl teams, including the 1996 championship squad who defeated New England in Super Bowl XXXI. In just five short years, he made an impressive name for himself and Seattle hired him as their director of college scouting.

"He's very good at what he does and has a tremendous desire to improve," Wolf said. "He has an exceptional eye for talent."

Some of his early picks, like St. Louis G Adam Timmerman, Green Bay's seventh-round selection out of South Dakota State in 1995, turned out to be hidden gems. Timmerman has since become a Pro Bowler.

In Seattle, McCloughan's efforts came to fruition when the Seahawks won the NFC Championship in 2005 and made a trip to Super Bowl XL in Detroit to play the Pittsburgh Steelers. On that roster, 25 of the 28 draft picks on McCloughan's draft scroll were still on the team when he left his post to join the 49ers in 2005.

"I think Scot is one of the bright young talents in this League. I fought like crazy to keep him here," Seattle Head Coach Mike Holmgren said at the time of McCloughan's departure.

Along with his tireless routine of preparation, McCloughan possesses an acute memory. It served him well heading his first draft in San Francisco, where he had to put together a draft board based on the needs of a team he barely knew.

"Ten of the 11 draft picks from 2005 remained on the team that season and the one we did cut and wanted to put on the practice squad was claimed," McCloughan recapped. "Two, three years into this, I think it's going to be a heck of a draft."

The 2005 Draft Class has already proven him right.

Third-round draft pick RB Frank Gore set a franchise record in his sophomore season with 1,695 rushing yards, the third-highest total in the NFL. Gore's performance earned Pro Bowl accolades. First overall pick QB Alex Smith took every snap in his second NFL season and showed much promise as the 49ers offensive leader of the future.

In 2006 McCloughan also led a strong draft campaign, making a trade with Denver to acquire a second pick in the first round. It enabled the 49ers to tag both TE Vernon Davis with the sixth overall pick and LB Manny Lawson with the 22nd overall selection. Davis and Lawson were both steady contributors in the 2006 starting lineup and will look to break out in 2008. Both 2007 first-round picks played an immediate role with LB Patrick Willis earning AP Defensive Rookie of the Year honors and a Pro Bowl berth, while T Joe Staley started all 16 games at right tackle.

Over the past four years, McCloughan has also held the roster together with a myriad of free agent acquisitions.

"That gave me a lot of confidence in Scot McCloughan and our personnel department," Nolan said about the free agents effectively filling holes on the team.

McCloughan has recruited the talents of seasoned veterans through free agency, such as All-Pro G Larry Allen, 2006 Pro Bowl CB Walt Harris, FB Moran Norris, LT Jonas Jennings and 2005 49ers co-MVP K Joe Nedney.

The McCloughan scouting pedigree likewise matriculated to his older brother, David, who shares Scot's innate ability to unearth football talent. He also came to San Francisco in 2005 and serves as the 49ers director of college scouting.

McCloughan and his wife, Kelli, have a son, Caden, and twin girls, Adison and Avery. The family resides in Los Gatos, CA.

LAL HENEGHAN
EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT OF FOOTBALL ADMINISTRATION

A proven football administrator with a wealth of experience at the NFL, NFLPA and club level, Lal Heneghan enters his third season as the 49ers Executive Vice President of Football Administration. When Denise and John York and Mike Nolan agreed on the creation of the new position in 2006, they began an extensive search to find a person whose knowledge and organizational skills would benefit the organization in a vast array of areas. In his role, Heneghan oversees all aspects of the day-to-day football administration.

Prior to joining the 49ers, Heneghan served as Vice President of Football Operations and General Counsel for the Cleveland Browns from November of 1998 until May of 2004. Heneghan also has experience providing consulting services to professional sports and non-profit organizations and said his diverse levels of experience have served him well in his career.

"I've had the opportunity to see how different elements of the NFL operate," Heneghan said. "When issues or questions arise, I've usually had experience in knowing what people's points of view are. That's helped me facilitate solutions to problems that come up and it in turn, gets everyone to work together."

With the Browns, Heneghan was responsible for departmental, salary cap and player contract coordination as well as general legal matters. He also oversaw the club's pro personnel department as well as the medical, equipment, video and player development departments.

Prior to joining Cleveland, Heneghan spent seven years with the National Football League Management Council as director of labor relations. In that capacity, he supervised the daily operation and interpretation of the NFL salary cap, the Collective Bargaining Agreement and advised clubs on all aspects of their daily labor operations.

After joining the NFL in 1991, Heneghan initially served as labor relations counsel where he represented clubs in grievance arbitrations and counseled clubs on a variety of labor issues. In 1993, he participated in negotiations with the NFLPA, which resulted in the 1993 Collective Bargaining Agreement.

Heneghan's contributions to the NFL are reflective of his involvement in a broad range of areas, including serving on the NFL Management Council's Working Club Executive Committee while with the Browns. He remains one of three NFL-appointed executives to serve as a Trustee of the NFL Player Insurance Trust.

Previously, Heneghan was a labor attorney at Akin Gump, Strauss, Hauer & Feld in Washington, D.C. He received his B.A. from the University of Pennsylvania and is a graduate of the Georgetown University Law Center. During law school, he worked with the NFLPA in Washington, D.C. Heneghan said a career that combined his two passions—sports and law—gave him the best of both worlds.

"When I entered law school, I had an interest in combining my interest in law with a career in sports," Heneghan said. "I participated in sports in college and wanted to include sports into my professional pursuits. I was fortunate that I attended law school with a man who had played in the NFL and was the assistant executive director of the NFLPA (Mark Murphy, an eight-year player with the Washington Redskins from 1977-84 and now President/C.E.O. of the Green Bay Packers). He introduced me to the people at the union in the legal department and that's how I got my start in professional football."

An accomplished college athlete, Heneghan was a tight end and co-captain for the 1984 University of Pennsylvania Ivy League Champion football team. Heneghan said he still applies the same ideals of teamwork and leadership to his professional career today.

"Sports in college were helpful because we were part of a new program when I went there. We worked together as a team, and we really felt we were a team that tried to re-establish a winning tradition," Heneghan said. "I think that's what goes on at the club level as well. A group that has that commitment can win with each other."

Heneghan's greatest sports achievement was being a part of Pennsylvania's football team that captured the Ivy League Championship. What he cherishes most was the journey he and his teammates made together to achieve such great success.

"I think winning the championship as a group was the best feeling I had as a player," Heneghan said. "Just the camaraderie we had was great and we had a lot more fun around each other because we won. It wasn't any particular game, but being part of the team was the greatest thing to me."

Born in Rockville, MD, family has always been a big part of his life, stretching even to the origin of his name. Lal, an Irish family name, is short for Lally, which was his father's name before he emigrated from Ireland to the United States.

Heneghan's wife, Amy, is a pediatrician. The couple has a son, Jack, and a daughter, Lucy.

"To me, family is my most important job," Heneghan said. "I grew up in a large family and it's always been a privilege to be a part of that team."

MIKE NOLAN
HEAD COACH
22ND NFL SEASON, 4TH WITH 49ERS

When Mike Nolan took over San Francisco's head coaching reins in 2005, he knew the expectations laid out in front of him were immense. Walking into an organization that had no recent history of success was one thing, but joining one of professional football's most storied franchises put a greater responsibility on his shoulders.

Nolan set lofty goals to get the club back into the League's upper echelon while carrying on the winning tradition set by many celebrated players and coaches from the past, including his father, Dick Nolan, former 49ers head coach from 1968-75.

"There is an expectation level of performance and we have a responsibility to past players," Nolan confirmed. "That is the responsibility of the players, coaches and the entire organization to get back on track."

Nolan welcomed the task and challenged his team to capture the NFC West title, a goal that he says will not change.

"When you go forward, there is no choice in the leadership role," Nolan boldly stated. "You have one choice, and that's to lead and you don't lead from a loser's perspective. You lead from a winner's perspective."

Nolan's burning desire to win was the exact ingredient Owners Denise and John York were looking to add to the 49ers organization when hiring the franchise's 15th head coach on January 19, 2005. It marked the same exact date his father, Dick, was hired by the 49ers 37 years earlier. Growing up under the wing of his father, who captured three straight NFC West Division Championships (1970-72) in San Francisco, gave him an early desire to lead a life dedicated to football and family.

"When I was named the head coach of the San Francisco 49ers, it fulfilled a lifelong dream to follow in my father's footsteps," Nolan said. "I have always considered myself one of the 49ers Faithful having grown up in the Bay Area, I can say that I was once a fan as well."

Mike and Dick Nolan became the fourth NFL family along with Don and David Shula, Jim Sr. and Jim Mora Jr., and Wade and Bum Phillips to have a father and son handle head coaching roles and the only ones to coach with the same franchise. Some of Mike Nolan's most vivid childhood memories were watching from his father's shadow on the practice field and in the locker room and building relationships with players who were some of the greatest to ever play the game.

"Mike was nine years old when I played here when his dad was hired," 49ers Hall of Fame LB Dave Wilcox said. "He used to hang around the locker room. The way he coaches sounds exactly like his dad. Very thorough, knew what he wanted to do, knew he was going to get there. So I'm convinced that he'll do that."

Said owner John York, "I totally believe in what we started under Mike Nolan when he was hired three years ago. We've had some ups and downs. That's part of this process. We have to learn from the downs, and get better. I believe we have, and I look forward to our success under Mike's leadership going forward."

THE ROOT OF ALL VALUES

Nolan has playing experience and more than 26 years of coaching notched on his belt. Over that span, he's learned that character and heart can be more significant than mere talent alone. Personally filling the roles of both student and mentor also instituted Nolan's intense desire to see every individual player coached as though they were part of the starting lineup.

After playing football at Woodside (CA) High School, he walked-on to the football team at the University of Oregon. One day at practice Oregon's quarterback ran the option and was tackled by the team's safety. Both suffered injuries and the back-up quarterback, who was the team's second-string safety, stepped in as the new leader in the pocket. Just two days later, Oregon's third-string safety flunked out of school. In the unexpected twist of fate, Nolan went from a fourth-string walk-on to a starting safety in one of the nation's toughest football conferences, the Pacific-8 (Now the Pac-10). He grabbed his chance, took advantage of his coaches' principles, and started three years on scholarship for the Ducks.

Since then he believes one of a coach's most significant responsibilities is to make sure every man on his roster is ready to compete.

"When my father was head coach of the 49ers, I was fortunate enough to spend time with 49ers greats like John Brodie, Gene Washington, Dave Wilcox and Jimmy Johnson. The reason I bring up those names is because I am often asked why I am a coach. A lot of coaches say that it's because they love the game, but seldom do they actually reflect on why they love the game. I realized and recognized that it was those players' passion and intensity that struck me as a child and made me want to be part of the game of football."

-Head Coach Mike Nolan

"Our coaching mandate is that if you are in a 49ers uniform, you will be coached, prepared and ready to play whether you are a first-round pick or a backup player," Nolan said. "Our coaches are dedicated teachers that are skilled in getting everybody on this team ready to play."

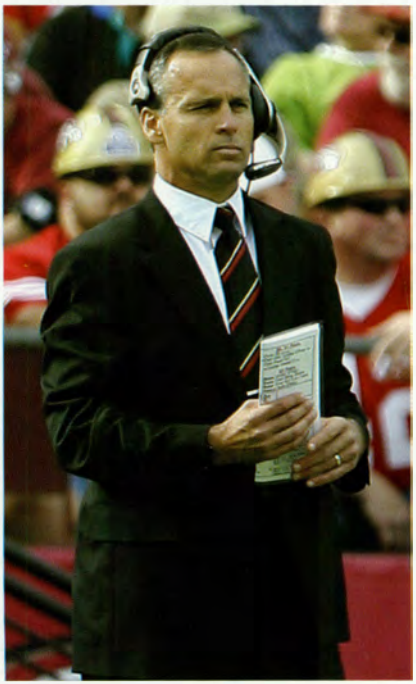
The 49ers had high expectations in 2007 following a jump from 4-12 to 7-9 in 2006, but an injury riddled season produced a disappointing 5-11 record. Despite the record, the 49ers did have some outstanding individual performances with rookie LB Patrick Willis setting an NFL record for tackles, receiving a Pro Bowl berth and being named the Associated Press Defensive Rookie of the Year. P Andy Lee earned Pro Bowl recognition after one of the greatest punting seasons in NFL history. RB Frank Gore, despite battling an ankle injury for most of the year, had his second consecutive 1,000-yard season with 1,102 yards.

"While we were not where we wanted to be in 2007, we did have some strong individual performances," said Nolan. "In 2008, we need to see the individual success turn into team success."

After just three seasons in San Francisco, Nolan has revived the 49ers' roster with high-intensity, passionate, character players.

BUILDING AN IMPRESSIVE RÉSUMÉ

Much of Nolan's success as a leader and acute defensive mind was showcased in his previous position as the defensive coordinator with the Baltimore Ravens. During his impressive stint in Baltimore, Nolan's defense yielded nine Pro Bowl starters in 2003-04. Over that span, his stingy defensive units also produced two NFL Defensive Players of the Year in S Ed Reed (2004) and LB Ray Lewis (2003).



In 2004, Nolan's defense finished tied for second in the NFL in average rush per carry (3.6 yards). The Ravens defense allowed only 16.8 points per game, good for fourth in the AFC. Nolan's unit had 34 total takeaways, including 13 interceptions. Reed was named the Associated Press NFL Defensive Player of the Year after earning 20 votes from a national panel of writers and broadcasters who cover pro football to make him the first safety to win the award in 20 years. He led the NFL with nine interceptions and set an NFL mark with 358 return yards on those picks. Reed joined LB Ray Lewis, CB Cris McAlister and LB Terrell Suggs as players selected to start in the 2004 Pro Bowl.

In 2003, Nolan's defense was among the NFL's best, finishing third overall. Baltimore ranked first in the AFC with 17 fumble recoveries, led the NFL in sacks (47) and tied for first in the AFC and second in the NFL with 41 takeaways. The Ravens defense allowed just 281 points and grabbed 24 interceptions. Nolan was named to USA Today's All-Joe Team following the 2003 season and NFL Assistant Coach of the Year by the Football Digest. During the 2003 season, Baltimore allowed the fewest yards per play (4.2) and fourth fewest passing yards (175.3 per game) in the NFL. Lewis was named the AP's NFL Defensive Player of the Year and was the leading vote-getter on AP's All-Pro team (49 of 50 votes). Reed, one of eight Ravens to make the Pro Bowl, tied a Ravens' record with seven interceptions and Suggs was named the AP's NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year while setting a Ravens' rookie record with 12 sacks.

Nolan was promoted to Baltimore's defensive coordinator in 2002 after originally joining the Ravens in 2001 on the other side of the ball as the team's wide receivers coach. Brian Billick had envisioned Nolan as a defensive coordinator, and he moved into that position with the departure of Marvin Lewis.

The 2002 season was especially challenging for him due to the fact that the Ravens newcomers out-numbered the starting veterans on defense. Eight rookies comprised the defensive roster by season's end, while Lewis was lost to a shoulder injury in October. Although the team faced adversity, Baltimore finished first in the AFC with a team-record 25 interceptions, second in the NFL in fewest yards per rush (3.7), third in the NFL in fewest yards allowed on first down (4.87 yards—best in the AFC) and third in the AFC with 31 takeaways.

Prior to tutoring the Ravens wide receivers, Nolan had a one-year stay as the New York Jets' defensive coordinator in 2000, a position he also held with the Washington Redskins (1997-99) and the New York Giants (1993-96). Under Nolan's tutelage, the Jets' defense rebounded to tenth overall (tied with Philadelphia) in the league—11 positions better than the previous year.

"When I was the GM of the Jets we had a good relationship," former Jets Head Coach and General Manager Bill Parcells remembered about Mike Nolan. "I knew his dad and I liked his dad. I just kind of took to Mike myself. I think he's a good, young coach and I like him very much personally. I think he's a football guy. He grew up with it. It's very important to him, and I think that he has a lot of passion for it."

From 1997-99 Nolan was the defensive coordinator in Washington. In 1997, the Redskins allowed the eighth-fewest points in the NFL and finished third overall in pass defense. Though his three-year spell with the Redskins had plenty of highs and lows, Nolan credits his experiences there as the catalyst he used to build his present foundation.

"I didn't learn as much football at Washington, but I learned more than I could have any place else as far as personnel, structure and chemistry," he remembered. "That was one of the best experiences of my coaching career, looking back on it."

Prior to serving on the Redskins' staff, he spent four seasons as defensive coordinator under then-head coach Dan Reeves for the New York Giants (1993-96). In Nolan's first season as the League's youngest defensive coordinator at the time (32 years old), the Giants defense allowed the fewest points in the NFL (205). Nolan cut his professional coaching teeth under Reeves, serving on his staff in Denver from 1987-92 as the Broncos' linebackers coach and special teams coach/defensive assistant. During that span, Nolan reached the Super Bowl twice with the Broncos.

"Mike has a good personality and he relates well to players because he has been around them," Reeves said. "Mike played in high school and college and almost made it with us in Denver. He has coached special teams, offense and defense, so he's had a lot of experience coaching all three phases. I think that will pay dividends for him."

Nolan launched his coaching career as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Oregon in 1981 after participating in the 1981 Broncos' training camp as a defensive back under Reeves. Within five years, he held positions as a linebackers or defensive backs coach at Stanford, Rice and LSU.

FOOTBALL ALL IN THE FAMILY

Football and family have always been one in the same for the Nolan's. The family's ties to his profession have only deepened since Nolan became a head coach.

Because coaching hours run deep into the night and begin at the break of dawn, Nolan and his wife, Kathy, found a way to increase time spent together. Kathy drives him to work in the morning and picks him up at the end of the day. The commute enables the couple to spend some extra time together.

"One thing I learned from my father growing up was how he treated my mother," he explained. "My father loved my mother more than you could ever imagine, and I always saw that.

"That's helped me in my own life. We've moved nine times in the last 24 years. It is important that we keep the family together."

Nolan's family members have also been his biggest supporters, cheering him along every step of the way. His naming as the head coach in San Francisco in 2005 marked the most special stop for the Nolan family yet. The night before Mike's first game, his oldest brother, Rook, met him at the team hotel with a gift, their father Dick's 1956 NFL championship ring that he earned as a defensive back with the New York Giants. Rook received the ring when he moved out of the family house. Rook, who took his name after being born during his father's rookie season in 1954, thought his younger brother should wear the ring during his first regular season game as a head coach. Mike wore the ring with the face down close to his palm and went on to lead the 49ers to an opening day 28-25 win against division rival St. Louis on September 11, 2005.

The Nolan family appreciates the process that lies ahead for Mike in winning another 49ers' championship. But they have no doubt in his leadership and drive to get the job done.

"He understands players and can help them with any problems that they have on or off the field," Mike's father, and biggest supporter, Dick, said at the time of his hiring. "He knows his stuff and is very organized. I never dreamed he would be the head football coach of a team I coached. I never thought it would be that way. It is great to see that happen."

Mike and Kathy Nolan have four children: sons, Michael and Christopher, and daughters, Laura and Jennifer. The family resides in Saratoga, CA.

MIKE SINGLETARY

ASSISTANT HEAD COACH/DEFENSE

6TH NFL SEASON, 4TH WITH 49ERS

Mike Singletary enters his fourth year with the 49ers and third as the assistant head coach/defense. Singletary was elevated to the post after serving one season as the assistant head coach/linebackers, a position he was named to on January 21, 2005.

A proven teacher who values work ethic and discipline, the 49ers linebackers played well this past season under Singletary's direction. LB Patrick Willis, the AP Defensive Rookie of the Year, set an unofficial NFL record for tackles with 226, and became the first 49ers rookie defender to earn Pro Bowl honors since Ronnie Lott in 1981.

Singletary teamed with 49ers Head Coach Mike Nolan as the Baltimore Ravens inside linebackers coach for two seasons. Players have flourished under his tutelage, including Ray Lewis, who earned 2003 NFL Defensive Player of the Year honors. Under Singletary, the inside linebackers at Baltimore finished first and second in tackles in each of his seasons coaching the position. He was also part of a coaching staff that directed the Ravens defense to a third overall finish in 2003 and sixth overall in 2004.

After coaching under Nolan's defensive staff for just two seasons, Singletary's wisdom and commanding respect sent impressionable waves throughout the organization and team. When Nolan took the head coaching position in San Francisco, Singletary was his first coaching hire, and set the tone for the type of team he would be building.

"Mike is one of the best leaders and teachers that I have ever been associated with," Nolan said. "Mike teaches with great passion and great energy; two things that are very important, I think, to being a successful teacher. There are not too many people that command the respect that Mike does the minute he walks into a room.

"In Baltimore, Mike coached possibly the best linebacking corps in the NFL in Ray Lewis, Eddie Hartwell, Terrell Suggs and Peter Boulware. As a player, there are probably way too many things to list on Mike, but two things that stand out to me are his very successful 12-year NFL career and in 1998, his induction into the Pro Football Hall of Fame."

In 2001, Singletary won the Walter Camp's "Man of the Year Award," based on his reputation for integrity and leadership within his profession and contributions benefiting his community, country and fellow man. He also co-founded Leadership Zone, a company that provides leadership training.

Singletary was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1998 after a stellar career with the Chicago Bears from 1981-92. He boasted 1,488 career tackles (885 solo), finishing as the Bears' first or second leading tackler each of his last 11 seasons. Singletary was named to the NFL Team of the 80's after being selected to play in a team-record 10 consecutive Pro Bowls. The former Bears defensive captain was also named All-Pro eight times (1983-89; 1991), and an All-NFC selection nine consecutive times (1983-91). He also started a defensive team record 172 games for the Bears, trailing only running back Walter Payton's 184 career starts for the all-time team lead.

Singletary was drafted in the second round of the 1981 NFL Draft out of Baylor University.

In addition to his coaching duties for the 49ers, Singletary is a motivational speaker and has authored three books: Singletary One on One, Calling the Shots and Daddy's Home at Last.

Singletary and his wife, Kim, have seven children.

MIKE MARTZ
OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR
17TH NFL SEASON, 1ST WITH 49ERS

An experienced and extremely successful head coach and offensive coordinator with a history of high-powered units, Mike Martz begins his first season as offensive coordinator with the 49ers. A proven winner, Martz said there were a multitude of reasons on why he was excited to join San Francisco's coaching staff this year.

"There were a lot of things involved," Martz said. "I have great respect for such an elite franchise. I worked with Mike (Nolan) in Washington and respect what he is trying to get done in San Francisco. I think looking at the tape of the 49ers, the potential with that offensive line and to build that offense around Frank Gore is pretty exciting. There are a lot of really outstanding pieces there that we just need to tie together. If we can do that, they are so well established in special teams and on defense, I think the potential and the opportunity is pretty exciting. It's not a challenge, it's an opportunity and that's the part I enjoy."

Martz joins the 49ers after serving as offensive coordinator of the Detroit Lions for the past two seasons. Under Martz's direction, Lions QB John Kitna passed for over 4,000 yards in both 2006 and 2007, becoming only the ninth quarterback to throw for over 4,000 yards in consecutive seasons. Prior to his stint with the Lions, Martz was the head coach of the St. Louis Rams from 2000-05 and offensive coordinator in 1999. While in St. Louis, Martz led the Rams to five playoff appearances, four 10-win seasons, three division titles, two Super Bowl appearances and one world championship (Super Bowl XXXIV).

When Martz rejoined the Rams organization as offensive coordinator in 1999, the Rams began one of the most impressive turnarounds in the history of the league. Between 1998 and 1999, St. Louis went from 4-12 to 13-3 and from last place in the NFC West to Super Bowl champions. Offensively, the Rams went from 27th overall (29th in rushing and 22nd in passing) to the best offensive unit in 1999 (fifth in rushing and first in passing). Since that season, the Rams offense, dubbed "The Greatest Show on Turf," has reigned as one of the most successful offenses in recent history.

As a team, the Rams offense scored 526 points in 1999, which is the fourth-best in NFL history, and accumulated a 17.8 margin of victory, which was third-best since 1950. The following season, they set a franchise record (third-best in NFL history) with 540 points. After scoring 503 points in 2001, St. Louis became the first NFL team to score at least 500 points in three straight seasons.

Martz's offensive philosophy, focusing on his ideal that "this is a game of speed and attitude," not only exists in passing the football, but also emphasizes the running game as a vital element to offensive production. When asked about his offensive coaching philosophy, Martz mentioned an impressive array of talent that helped to mold his style.

"Ernie Zampese, Norv Turner, Joe Gibbs, Bill Walsh, there's so many guys that have affected me, through conversation, watching tape and working for some of these guys, it's kind of a combination of a lot of things," Martz said. "I think the organization of the offense and how we practice the details is so important. Bill Walsh really impacted that a lot for me, talking with him and watching how he conducted practices and what not. I learned a lot of the scheme from Ernie Zampese and Don Coryell, and I think from a play calling standpoint, Norv Turner really affected me in that respect as well as John Robinson."

As offensive coordinator of the Rams, Martz's rushing attack ranked second in the league with a 4.8 yards-per-rush average, and RB Marshall Faulk finished the year ranked fifth in the league with 1,381 yards and had the best yards-per-rush average (5.5). Between 1998 and 1999, the Rams went from 86.6 rushing yards-per-game average to 128.7, and from a rushing average of 3.5 to 4.8.

Martz's 2005 season as the Rams head coach was cut short when he missed the last 11 games due to a heart ailment. During his five full seasons (2000-2004) as the Rams head coach, Martz accumulated a record of 51-29 (.638) in the regular season and 54-33 (.621) overall. Only five coaches in NFL history have more regular season wins in their first five seasons. Prior to the 2005 season, Martz had the fourth-best regular season record among active coaches. His 24 wins during his first two seasons (2000-2001) is the third highest in NFL history, and his 43 regular season wins during his first four seasons as head coach is tied for the third highest in league history.

Martz is a Summa Cum Laude graduate of Fresno State, where he played tight end in 1972. He was a tight end at the University of California-Santa Barbara in 1971 and transferred to Fresno when UCSB dropped football. Martz also played two seasons at San Diego Mesa Community College. Martz was sophomore class president at Mesa Community College.

Martz's first coaching appointment was at Bullard High School in Fresno, California, in 1973. He also coached at San Diego Mesa (1974, 1976-77), San Jose State (1975), Santa Ana College in Santa Ana, California (1978), Fresno State (1979), University of the Pacific (1980-81) and Minnesota (1982). He was quarterbacks and receivers coach at Arizona State from 1983-87 and was the Sun Devils' offensive coordinator in 1984 and from 1988-91.

He has also been a tireless leader in the community, both in the coaching profession and in other charitable endeavors. While in St. Louis, Martz hosted numerous coaching academies and clinics, stressing both character and teamwork. He has also been involved both locally and nationally in the fight against Alzheimer's, giving a passionate testimony before a United States Senate committee urging increased federal funding for Alzheimer's research along with hosting many fundraising activities to help combat the disease.

Martz was born in Sioux Falls, SD, and moved to San Diego at the age of eight. Martz and his wife, Julie, have three sons, Chris, David, and Tim, and a daughter, Emily.

GREG MANUSKY (MA-nuh-SKI)

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR

8TH NFL SEASON, 2ND WITH 49ERS

Once a tough, hard-nosed NFL linebacker, Greg Manusky has since translated those qualities into a successful eight-year professional coaching career. Manusky brings that mentality to the 49ers defense as he enters his second season as defensive coordinator in San Francisco.

Manusky joined the 49ers after serving as the linebackers coach for the San Diego Chargers from 2002-06, and in the same capacity for the Washington Redskins in 2001. During his 12-year stay as a linebacker with Washington (1988-90), Minnesota (1991-93) and Kansas City (1994-99), Manusky was known as a tenacious workhorse. He said his passion for the game, and mental will to do anything necessary to make an impact on the team, carried him throughout his playing career.

"I told Mike (Nolan) during the interview process that I've never really had an interview," Manusky said. "Coming out of college, my goal was to go to the pros. My only interview was, 'Can you run as fast as you can, hit the wedge square on and make a play?' My attitude and experience playing special teams was mostly my forte. I had a heck of a year in 1991 with the Vikings. I used to play a lot of practical jokes on guys. I think that's how I made the All-Madden Team."

Head Coach Mike Nolan echoed Manusky's sentiments.

"I found Greg to be a very good teacher, not only through our meeting, but also through talking with Dallas Cowboys Head Coach Wade Phillips and other league representatives about him," Nolan said. "He's got great energy. His organizational skills were very impressive to me. I was very impressed with his ability to organize a staff and delegate the responsibilities. He has a very good plan and a very good thought process in putting those things together."

Manusky played in 113 consecutive games during his career. Following the 1991 season, he was selected to the All-Madden Team put together by Hall of Fame broadcaster and former coach, John Madden. Manusky said the encouragement he received from his coaches during his playing days instilled in him the confidence to enter the coaching profession.

"During my sixth year in the league, I played under Tony Dungy and Monte Kiffin in Minnesota. They were the first ones to say, 'Hey, you'd be a pretty good coach,'" Manusky recalled. "That's the road I've traveled since. During the number of years that I spent in Kansas City and even in my past few years as a coach, I've continued to try and push myself and adopt the mindset of an offensive or defensive coordinator. I've been fortunate to have the opportunity to do that here in San Francisco."

After retiring from the NFL in 1999, Manusky spent the 2000 season as a volunteer at the Tampa Bay Buccaneers' training camp, where he worked with the linebackers and special teams. One year later, he accepted the job as linebackers coach with the Redskins.

A well-regarded teacher and communicator, Manusky developed the Chargers linebacking corps into one of the NFL's stingiest units. They were part of a defense that finished the 2006 season ranked seventh against the rush and third in turnover margin with a plus-13 balance. The unit alone accounted for 43.5 of the defense's 61 total regular season sacks.

In six years as a pro coach, Manusky has sent four players to the Pro Bowl, including San Diego's Shawne Merriman in 2006, Donnie Edwards and Junior Seau with San Diego in 2002 and LaVar Arrington with Washington in 2001. Merriman, Arrington and Edwards all went to their first career Pro Bowls under Manusky's tutelage.

Manusky was born in Wilkes-Barre, PA, where he prepped at Dallas (PA) High School. He went on to attend Colgate University and was a four-year letterman and an All-Colonial league selection. He was named the league's Defensive Player of the Year as a senior and graduated with degrees in education and geology.

Manusky and his wife, Laurie, have two sons, Colton and Jake, and two daughters, Logan and Chandler.

AL EVEREST
SPECIAL TEAMS COORDINATOR
12TH NFL SEASON, 2ND WITH 49ERS

When San Francisco named Al Everest to lead the 49ers special teams unit on January 14, 2007, the team gained an experienced, fiery mentor in the classroom and on the field.

Everest brings over 35 years of coaching experience with him to San Francisco, and in that span has also spent valuable time as an educator around the world. The combined experience of teaching and coaching was exactly what Head Coach Mike Nolan sought when filling the position.

"Al brings a tremendous amount of experience to our coaching staff," Nolan said. "His special teams units were extremely successful while he was with New Orleans. The Saints were among the leaders in just about every category during that time. Al is excited to join the 49ers, and I am equally excited about having him on board."

Everest has achieved success as a college player and as a coach in the National Football League, European professional football, and collegiate football and baseball. In San Francisco, his classic approach to teaching and excelling in fundamentals has given the 49ers special teamers, including standout K Joe Nedney and P Andy Lee a fresh perspective.

"I'm not here to reinvent football, but I'm here to teach them how to be better football players," Everest said about his coaching philosophy. "Our job is to give them the tools to win battles. I take pride in thinking that when they leave, they say, 'I appreciate you making me a better football player.'"

In 2007, Everest and special teams assistant Jeff Rodgers were named Special Teams Coaches of the Year, an honor voted upon by all 32 teams, after leading an impressive and productive unit on the field. Lee had one of the most prolific seasons for a punter in NFL history as he earned a trip to the Pro Bowl and led the NFL in almost every major punting category, which included setting an NFL record for punts dropped inside the 20-yard line, with 42.

Everest has done just that with many levels of talent – both polished and raw. His previous NFL stop was with the Saints, where he served as the special teams coordinator from 2000-2005. Everest established a top-notch special teams effort in New Orleans, coaching three Pro Bowlers during that span while receiving the 2002 NFL Special Teams Coach of the Year award, one that was voted on by his coaching peers.

In 2005, punter Mitch Berger ranked fourth in the NFL with a 38.7 net punting average after hitting 71 punts for 3,066 yards.

In 2004, the Saints had five players win NFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors, the most in franchise history for a single season. Included in that total was four straight over the final four games, which tied the NFL record for the most consecutive winners since the inception of the award in 1993. Return man Michael Lewis became the team's all-time punt return leader with 126 career returns (through 2005) for 1,371 yards. Lewis also had a 96-yard kickoff return for a touchdown that season. In addition, fellow returner, Aaron Stecker, added a 98-yard kick return for a touchdown. Berger again was tops in the NFL with a 39.5 net punting average, good enough to earn him a Pro Bowl visit.

Also under Everest's instruction in 2003, K John Carney established a team record 22-straight contests with a field goal. Berger led the NFL in net punting average and the Saints notched three straight games with a blocked field goal, the longest such streak in the NFL since 2000. In 2002, the New Orleans special teams units had three touchdown returns, blocked five kicks and forced an interception for a touchdown while rushing a punt. Carney set a club scoring record with 130 points and Lewis set an NFL record with 2,432 combined kickoff and punt return yards. Everest was named NFL Special Teams Coach of the Year and The Dallas Morning News listed his unit as having the League's No.1 special teams in the publication's annual ranking.

During his time in New Orleans, Everest coached three players to Pro Bowl caliber seasons – Berger, Lewis and RB Fred McAfee. Berger and McAfee took Everest to Hawaii to show their appreciation of his guidance.

"There's nothing more rewarding than seeing your players, or students, become successful because it's a form of parenthood," Everest said about steering his pupils on a successful path. "You're part of the process of their development. It's very humbling because you know you played a part in their success."

Prior to elevating the Saints special teams units to paramount levels, Everest was the special teams coach for the Arizona Cardinals from 1996-99. In his final season, the Cardinals ranked third in the NFL in defensive punt coverage, fifth in opponents' net punting average and second in field goal defense. In 1998, Arizona had four game-winning field goals on the final play.

Prior to his second spell in the NFL, Everest worked on both sides of the ball around the globe. From 1976-80, Everest served as an athletic director and football coach at American School Foundation in Mexico City.

In 1981, he made the decision to return stateside and joined U.S. International University from 1981-87, where he earned a doctorate degree with hopes of someday becoming a school superintendent. At the same time, he doubled as the school's baseball coach.

Everest then crossed the pond to combine his love of teaching and traveling while serving as a coach in NFL Italy for both the Legnano Frogs and Pesaro Angels from 1988-91.

"When you get to do what you love to do, and you get to travel while doing it, that's the best of both worlds," Everest said, referring to his multiple coaching stints abroad.

In 1991, he also spent the season as a scout for the Pro Spring Football League and returned to the U.S. to coach the secondary for the Arkansas Miners (1992) within the same League.

That's when his California and 49ers connection rekindled itself.

Everest spent a large part of his young life living in Palo Alto, CA, the home of Stanford University. His family moved to the area after his father, Andy, took a coaching position at Stanford under Jack Curtis (1958-62), and later assisted 49ers Hall of Fame Head Coach Bill Walsh with the Cardinal freshman team.

The family later moved to Santa Barbara, where Andy was Santa Barbara's offensive coordinator and organizer of the 49ers summer training camp when Dick Nolan was the 49ers head coach. At that time, Al was a safety at Southern Methodist and went home during the summers to help his father by running the reception room for the 49ers during their stay.

That's where his relationship with the Nolan family originated.

In 1992, Dick Nolan hired Everest as his offensive coordinator when he was the head coach of the AFL's San Antonio Force. Everest spent one season under the elder Nolan before going back to Italy for one more season as the defensive coordinator of Legnano in 1993.

Now Everest has been reunited with the younger generation of Nolan head coaches.

"Joining the 49ers means coming back to an area where I grew up for a large part of my life, but the thing that really impacted me was this staff," Everest said. "They are all outstanding in wanting to be a part of the special teams coaching, and Mike Nolan really believes in special teams and it's important to him.

"He wanted people who aspire to teach and essentially parent, which is the ultimate form of teaching and what I take pride doing."

Everest was a two-year starting safety at SMU from 1970-71, where his teammates coined him "Dirty Al" for his ability to lay big hits. He cut his coaching teeth as a graduate assistant at SMU in 1972, where he worked under Head Coach Hayden Fry and alongside defensive coordinator and later NFL Head Coach Bum Phillips. He then continued as a graduate assistant at North Texas under Fry for another two seasons.

Everest and his wife, Mischelle, reside in Almaden Valley, CA. Everest's daughter, Michelle, is a freshman at Arizona State. The couple also has a daughter, Kaycee Fae.

JERRY SULLIVAN

WIDE RECEIVERS/SENIOR ASSISTANT

17TH NFL SEASON, 4TH WITH 49ERS

Jerry Sullivan enters his fourth season with the 49ers after being named wide receivers coach/senior assistant on January 25, 2005. Sullivan boasts 17 years of NFL coaching experience, including two seasons as an offensive coordinator with the Arizona Cardinals.

Under Sullivan's direction in 2007, WR Arnaz Battle continued to cement his reputation as a multi-purpose threat, grabbing 50 receptions for 600 yards with five receiving touchdowns, a career-best, while opening running lanes with his physical style of blocking.

Sullivan, a 17-year veteran of the NFL coaching ranks, joined the 49ers after spending the 2004 season as wide receivers coach for the Miami Dolphins. Sullivan was a member of the Arizona Cardinals' coaching staff for three seasons (2001-03). In his first two years with the club, Sullivan mentored the team's wide receivers, where he worked with a group that included WR David Boston. Under Sullivan's guidance, Boston led the NFL with 1,598 receiving yards on 98 receptions in 2001 and was selected to the first Pro Bowl of his career. In 2003, Sullivan was promoted to offensive coordinator, where he worked with rookie wide receiver WR Anquan Boldin, a second-round draft choice that finished third in the league in receptions (101) and receiving yards (1,377) on his way to being named the NFL's Rookie of the Year as well as a starter on the NFC's Pro Bowl squad.

Sullivan has coached a multitude of Pro Bowl receivers, including San Diego Chargers WR Anthony Miller (1992-93) and WR Tony Martin (1996), Detroit Lions WR Herman Moore (1997-98) and WR Germaine Crowell (1999) and Arizona Cardinals WR David Boston (2001) and WR Anquan Boldin (2003).

Sullivan's NFL coaching career began in 1992 with the San Diego Chargers. Following his five-year term in San Diego, Sullivan coached wide receivers in Detroit from 1997-2000. Prior to his tenure in the Motor City, he coached on the collegiate level from 1971-91, including stints with Texas Tech, South Carolina, Indiana University, Louisiana State University and Ohio State.

Sullivan and his wife, Connie, reside in San Jose, CA. The couple has one son, Jon-Eric, who serves as a college scout in the Midwest region as the Green Bay Packers representative for the National Football Scouting Combine. Connie has a daughter, Allison Guay, and a granddaughter named Gibson, who reside in Baton Rouge, LA, and a son, Matthew, who works for an insurance company in Baton Rouge, LA.

DUANE CARLISLE

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

9TH NFL SEASON, 4TH WITH 49ERS

Duane Carlisle was promoted to the 49ers head strength and conditioning coach on January 9, 2008, after spending the previous three seasons as the team's assistant strength and conditioning coach.

Carlisle is responsible for overseeing the team's strength and conditioning program, which includes strength, power development, speed, recovery and regeneration, and the nutritional program for the players. He brings an individual oriented approach to the strength and conditioning position, but within a team-based context.

Carlisle will look to implement many new ideas into San Francisco's strength and conditioning program, like state of the art equipment that will help maximize performance and minimize injuries.

During Carlisle's three seasons as an assistant, he served under legendary strength and conditioning coach Johnny Parker, a three-time Super Bowl champion and 20-year NFL veteran. Like Parker, Carlisle believes a great strength and conditioning program should never leave Head Coach Mike Nolan worried about what condition the players are in.

Carlisle plans to apply all the lessons he learned from Parker now that he is in charge of the program. Parker wanted the players to be tough well-conditioned, and physically strong. To get there, he pushed and inspired them to get more out of them than what they were willing to give otherwise. He cared about the players and got them to work together as a team. After three years under Parker, those are some of the core philosophies that Carlisle will carry on.

During the 2006 and 2007 off-seasons, Carlisle helped direct the team's spring/summer conditioning program, which was a tremendous success, garnering nearly 100 percent participation. The 14-week progression of exercises is designed to build muscle size, strength and stamina while keying on position-specific speed and proper nutrition.

His experience before coming to the 49ers includes four teams among three different professional sports, ranging from the high school to the professional level. Having trained so many different types of athletes in the past, Carlisle brings a unique perspective to the typical NFL strength and conditioning program.

Carlisle recently served as the speed development consultant for the Philadelphia Eagles (2000-04) after starting his career there as a strength and conditioning intern in 1995 and a seasonal assistant from 1996-97. While with the Eagles, who made three consecutive appearances in the NFC Championship Game, Carlisle helped Westbrook gain the speed and stamina necessary to become one of the NFL's elite running backs.

As the president and founder of Lightning Fast Training Systems, Carlisle is one of the leaders in the area of athletic performance training. He has spent the last 14 years pushing athletes to perform to their maximum potential. He prepared various NFL stars for the NFL Scouting Combine, like Philadelphia RB Brian Westbrook and DE Trent Cole, Seattle QB Matt Hasselbeck, and New England C Dan Koppen.

He was also the head speed, strength and conditioning coach for the Philadelphia Charge of the Women's United Soccer Association and the speed, strength and conditioning consultant for Major League Lacrosse's New Jersey Pride (2001-03). Additionally, Carlisle was the speed development coordinator with the Tampa Bay Devil Rays (1997-98) and the sprint and jump coach at Penn State University. Carlisle has also served as the director of strength and conditioning at the prestigious Lawrenceville Boarding School in Lawrenceville, NJ.

Carlisle starred in track and field at the University of Maryland. He graduated with an emphasis in economics and physical education.

Carlisle is married to Shereese, and has four children.

TIGHT ENDS

10TH NFL SEASON, 4TH WITH 49ERS

Pete Hoener enters his fourth season with the 49ers after being named tight ends coach on February 16, 2005.

The tight ends played a key role in the 49ers offense in 2007. Under Hoener's tutelage, second-year TE Vernon Davis developed into one of the team's top weapons, finishing with 52 receptions for 509 yards and four touchdowns, while becoming one of the top blockers at his position. Delanie Walker, also in his second year as an NFL tight end after playing as a wide receiver in college, showed off his tremendous upside and playmaking talent, grabbing 21 receptions for 174 yards and his first career touchdown, while also showing great development in his blocking skills.

Hoener joined San Francisco after spending the 2004 season as the offensive line coach of the Chicago Bears. Under Hoener, the Bears offensive line went through seven starting combinations in 2004, but featured Pro Bowl C Olin Kreutz. Vance Joseph enters his fourth season in San Francisco and third as secondary coach with the 49ers after originally being named the secondary assistant on February 17, 2005. He shares the secondary duties with Johnnie Lynn.

The secondary developed into one of the 49ers' strongest units in 2007. Walt Harris, who made the Pro Bowl in 2006, and Nate Clements tied for the team lead in interceptions with four apiece, and Clements routinely made big plays by forcing fumbles or coming up with key tackles. S Michael Lewis led all NFL defensive backs in tackles, while also grabbing two interceptions of his own. S Mark Roman started all 16 games for the first time as a member of the 49ers and continued his intelligent, tenacious presence in the defense.

Joseph joined San Francisco after spending 2004 as the defensive backs coach at Bowling Green. He joined Bowling Green's staff after working in the same capacity at his alma mater, the University of Colorado, for two seasons (2002-03). Joseph also had a brief stint as the secondary coach at Wyoming (2002). He cut his coaching teeth as a graduate assistant for the Buffaloes (1999-01).

Joseph lettered three times during his five-year (1990-94) collegiate career at Colorado as a quarterback. He was a true freshman who saw action on Colorado's 1990 National Championship team.

Joseph signed as an undrafted free agent with the New York Jets in 1995, where he made the transition from quarterback to defensive back. He played 17 NFL games with the Jets and Indianapolis Colts over the course of two seasons. Joseph finished his career with two interceptions.

Born and raised in Marrero, LA, Joseph received a bachelor's degree in marketing in 1994 from Colorado.

JOHNNIE LYNN

SECONDARY COACH

15TH NFL SEASON, 4TH WITH 49ERS

Johnnie Lynn enters his 15th NFL campaign and fourth overall season in San Francisco (third consecutive) after being named the 49ers secondary coach on February 14, 2006. He shares the secondary duties with Vance Joseph.

It marks the second time in Lynn's coaching career that he has tutored the 49ers defensive backs unit. His first was in 1996.

The secondary developed into one of the 49ers' strongest units in 2007. Walt Harris, who made the Pro Bowl in 2006, and Nate Clements tied for the team lead in interceptions with four apiece, and Clements routinely made big plays by forcing fumbles or coming up with key tackles. S Michael Lewis led all NFL defensive backs in tackles, while also grabbing two interceptions of his own. S Mark Roman started all 16 games for the first time as a member of the 49ers and continued his intelligent, tenacious presence in the defense.

Lynn previously served as secondary coach of the Baltimore Ravens in 2004 and 2005. Lynn spent the 2004 season under Head Coach Mike Nolan when he served as the defensive coordinator for the Ravens. That season, the Ravens secondary unit accounted for six of the team's seven defensive touchdowns. Lynn also coached two Ravens defensive backs who earned starting Pro Bowl nods—SS Ed Reed and CB Chris McAlister. Reed was also named the NFL's Defensive Player of the Year (2004).

Prior to joining the Ravens, Lynn spent seven seasons with the New York Giants, serving five seasons (1997-01) as secondary coach before being promoted to defensive coordinator for the 2002 and 2003 seasons. In his first season as defensive coordinator, the Giants stingy defense ranked third in the NFL in scoring defense, allowing only 17.4 points per game. The Giants also finished ninth in total yardage defense (309.3 ypg) and ninth in passing defense (194.9 ypg). While Lynn mentored the defensive backs, the team consistently had one of the NFL's best pass defenses. In the 2000 NFC Championship Game, the Giants limited Pro Bowlers Cris Carter and Randy Moss of the Vikings to just five catches for 60 yards. Lynn was also instrumental in helping to develop a throng of talented defensive backs including Will Allen, William Peterson, Shaun Williams and Jason Sehorn, to name a few.

Prior to coaching defensive backs for the 49ers in 1996, Lynn served as the secondary coach for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 1994 and 1995. Before moving into the NFL coaching ranks, Lynn served in a number of coaching capacities at the University of Arizona from 1987-93. He started as the Wildcats graduate assistant in 1987, and was elevated to outside linebackers coach (1988-91) before taking over the defensive backs (1992-93).

Lynn enjoyed an eight-year NFL career (1979-86) with the New York Jets as a cornerback and safety. He originally joined the Jets as a fourth-round draft pick out of UCLA. He ended his career 10th on the Jets career interception list with 17 interceptions.

A four-year letterman at UCLA, Lynn played on four bowl teams and garnered All-Pacific 10 honors as a senior. He earned his bachelor's degree in history.

Lynn and his wife Laurie are the parents of three children: Ashley, Chazz and Cameron.

TONY NATHAN

RUNNING BACKS

17TH NFL SEASON, 1ST WITH 49ERS

Tony Nathan enters his first season with the 49ers after being named the team's running backs coach on February 4, 2008.

Nathan joins the 49ers after spending two seasons as the running backs coach for the Baltimore Ravens. In 2007, he tutored Ravens RB Willis McGahee, helping him rush for over 1,200 yards and seven touchdowns to go along with 43 receptions for 231 yards and a touchdown.

Before his two seasons in Baltimore, Nathan was the running backs coach at Florida International from 2003-05, where he helped Rashod Smith become the first running back in Golden Panthers history to rush for over 1,000 yards as he totaled 1,133 rushing yards on 230 carries with 12 touchdowns. While serving as the running backs coach for Tampa Bay from 1996-2001, Nathan coached the Pro Bowl running back tandem of Warrick Dunn and Mike Alstott, which consistently ranked among the NFL's top rushing attacks in that span.

Nathan began his coaching career with the Miami Dolphins in 1988 after playing with the team for the nine previous seasons. Hired by Don Shula as a coaches' assistant in 1988, he was promoted to running backs coach in 1993, where he coached Pro Bowl fullback Keith Byars and running backs Terry Kirby and Bernie Parmalee. Parmalee led the team in rushing for two straight years after being signed as an undrafted free agent.

Nathan enjoyed a nine-year career as a running back for the Dolphins from 1979-87, ranking high on several of their all-time lists for rushing yards (3,543, fifth), rushing attempts (732, sixth) and receptions (383, fifth). Nathan was the team's MVP in 1981 after leading the squad with a career-high 782 rushing yards. He was drafted by Miami in the third round (61st overall) of the 1979 NFL Draft.

Nathan starred at running back at Alabama, where he won a National Championship in 1978. He rushed for 1,997 yards on 310 carries with 29 touchdowns in his Crimson Tide career.

Nathan was a four-sport star at Woodlawn High School (Birmingham, AL), starring in football, basketball, baseball and track.

JASON TARVER

OUTSIDE LINEBACKERS/ DEFENSIVE ASSISTANT

8TH NFL SEASON, 8TH WITH 49ERS

Jason Tarver enters his eighth season with the 49ers and will continue to serve in his fourth season as the outside linebackers/defensive assistant coach. Tarver spent his first three seasons with the 49ers as an offensive quality control coach before becoming the assistant running backs/offensive assistant coach in 2004.

In 2007, Tarver played an instrumental role in developing outside linebacker Parys Haralson into a starter as he replaced second-year linebacker Manny Lawson after a season-ending knee injury following Week 2. A year prior, linebacker Brandon Moore paced the defense with 114 tackles, 6.5 sacks and four forced fumbles. On the opposite side, Tarver mentored Lawson as he made the switch from college defensive end to professional outside linebacker. Lawson finished his rookie year with 65 tackles, 2.5 sacks and an interception.

Tarver joined the 49ers staff after spending three seasons as a graduate assistant coach with UCLA (1998-00). In his three seasons with the Bruins, Tarver worked primarily with the defensive backfield and also assisted with special teams. Three of the unit's starting defensive backs during that span went on to join the NFL ranks, including current New York Giants CB Jason Bell, Chicago Bears CB Ricky Manning and former NFL S Marques Anderson.

A Northern California native, Tarver played defensive back and wing back at Foothill High in Pleasanton. He attended Santa Clara University, but played football at West Valley College in 1994 and 1995 because the Broncos cut their program.

After a series of injuries cut his career short, Tarver spent the next two seasons (1996-97) as an assistant coach at West Valley College, where he tutored linebackers, defensive backs and special teams.

Born in Stanford, CA, Tarver earned a bachelor's degree in chemistry from Santa Clara in 1997 and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He also earned his master's degree in biochemistry and molecular biology from UCLA and received the departmental prize for distinguished teaching in 1998 and 2000.

Ted Tollner enters his fifth season with the 49ers after being hired in the capacity of quarterbacks coach and assistant to the head coach on January 24, 2008.

Tollner will lead the quarterbacks after joining the team in Week 12 of the 2007 season as an offensive assistant. Tollner had last coached with the Detroit Lions under Steve Mariucci in 2005 as offensive coordinator before Mariucci was let go.

Prior to his time with the Lions, Tollner enjoyed a stint with the 49ers from 2002-2004, coaching quarterbacks for two seasons before he was promoted to offensive coordinator in 2004.

Tollner began his NFL career in 1987 with the Buffalo Bills as a wide receivers coach. He left after the 1988 season to become the offensive coordinator for the Chargers, a role he filled until 1991. Tollner then served as the quarterbacks coach for the Los Angeles Rams from 1992-93 before leaving the NFL to work in the college ranks from 1994-2001 in the capacity of head coach at San Diego State.

Tollner compiled a record of 43-48 at San Diego State, where he posted two eight-win seasons in his second and third years with the Aztecs (1995 and '96), which marked the first consecutive eight-win seasons since 1976-77. Tollner also directed San Diego State to its first postseason bowl game in seven years with a berth in the Las Vegas Bowl (1998).

Before his NFL coaching career, Tollner served as offensive coordinator and running backs coach at USC during the 1982 season, and in November of 1982, was named John Robinson's successor as Trojans head coach. He compiled a 26-20-1 record and directed the team to a Pacific-10 Conference title and three bowl berths. His 1984 USC squad posted a 9-3 record, finished 10th in the AP poll and upset fifth-ranked Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, 20-17. The Trojans finished 7-1 in the conference that year and earned their first trip to the Rose Bowl as conference champs since 1979. Tollner was named Pac-10 Coach of the Year that season. His two other bowl appearances with the Trojans include the 1985 Aloha Bowl and the 1987 Citrus Bowl. He worked with three NFL head coaches while at USC: former Lions and 49ers head coach Steve Mariucci, Chargers head coach Norv Turner and former Dolphins and Bears head coach, and current head coach at the University of Pittsburgh, Dave Wannstedt.

Tollner was born in San Francisco and began his football career in the Bay Area, coaching at Woodside High School (1963-66) and at San Mateo College (1968-72).

Tollner earned a bachelor's degree in 1962, and later a master's degree in physical education at Cal Poly. He was a starting quarterback for the Mustangs for two years and pitched for the baseball team for four seasons. He was one of 26 survivors of the tragic Cal Poly plane crash on 10-29-60, which killed 22 people, 16 of them players.

Tollner and his wife, Barbara, have two daughters, Linda and Tammy; one son, Bruce; and 10 grandchildren.

JIM TOMSULA

DEFENSIVE LINE

2ND NFL SEASON, 2ND WITH 49ERS

Jim Tomsula enters his second season with the 49ers after being named the team's defensive line coach on January 16, 2007.

Under Tomsula's direction, the 2007 defensive line developed into a stout unit in the team's 3-4 defense. DE Marques Douglas crossed the 100-tackle plateau and finished fourth in the entire NFL in tackles for loss with 12. Fellow DE Bryant Young led the team in sacks in his 14th season, with 6.5, while winning his fourth consecutive Len Eshmont Award, given to the player who best exemplifies the inspirational and courageous play of Len Eshmont, an original member of the 1946 49ers team.

When Head Coach Mike Nolan opened his search for a defensive line coach, he wanted a teacher, someone who could show the younger defensive linemen what it took to succeed in the NFL. Nolan found that in Tomsula, one of the most successful coaches in NFL Europa history.

He spent the 2006 season as the head coach of the Rhein Fire, where he coached current 49ers offensive lineman Tony Wragge.

During his time as a coach in the NFLEL, Tomsula achieved success as a defensive line coach, defensive coordinator and head coach. Between NFL Europa seasons, he was also a member of Division II Catawba College's coaching staff and was part of numerous college all-star games in a coaching capacity.

Prior to being named the Fire's head coach in 2006, which made him the youngest coach in NFLEL history at age 38, Tomsula served as the Berlin Thunder's defensive coordinator for two seasons, winning World Bowl XII in 2004. During that season, Tomsula's defense ranked first in the NFLEL against the run.

He joined the NFLEL in 1998 as the defensive line coach of the England Monarchs. He then went on to serve in the same capacity for five seasons with the Scottish Claymores, where he established a reputation for producing some of the league's most dominant lines. He also played a leading role in mentoring and teaching young talent in the league's National Player Development program.

Tomsula was a defensive lineman at Catawba College in Salisbury, NC, after transferring from Middle Tennessee State. In 1989, he started his coaching career as an assistant at his alma mater. He was then the defensive line coach at Woodland Hills (PA) High School in 1991 and later was an assistant at Charleston Southern University in 1992.

He and his wife, Julie, reside in San Jose with their daughters Britney and Brooke, and son Bear.

Mark Uyeyama enters his first season with the 49ers after he was hired as the team's assistant strength coach on January 21, 2008.

Uyeyama joins the 49ers after serving as the head strength and conditioning coach at Utah State University from 2004-07.

Uyeyama graduated from Utah in May of 2000 while working as a student assistant strength coach for two years. He then became a graduate assistant at USU before moving to another graduate assistant position at Arizona State from May 2001 through May 2003, when he was promoted to a full-time assistant.

Prior to working in the strength and conditioning field, Uyeyama played football at Butte Community College in Oroville, CA and Northern State University in Aberdeen, SD.

He earned a master's degree in higher and post secondary education from ASU in May of 2003.

GEORGE WARHOP

OFFENSIVE LINE

13TH NFL SEASON, 4TH WITH 49ERS

George Warhop enters his fourth season as the 49ers offensive line coach. He was named to the position on January 31, 2005.

In 2007, Warhop helped guide rookie T Joe Staley to an outstanding first season in the NFL, as he became the first 49ers rookie offensive lineman ever to start all 16 games. C Eric Heitmann, who returned to form after suffering a major leg injury late in the 2006 season at Seattle, won his second consecutive Bobb McKittrick Award, given to the team's top offensive lineman, as well as the Ed Block Courage Award, for his gritty return from the difficult injury. G Larry Allen, who played under Warhop in Dallas, was named a Pro Bowl alternate in his 14th NFL season.

With Warhop's offensive line paving the way, RB Frank Gore ran for 1,102 yards and five touchdowns on 260 carries, becoming only the fifth 49ers running back ever to post back-to-back 1,000 yard seasons. The 49ers also ranked sixth in the NFC and 11th overall with an average of 4.1 yards per carry in 2007.

In 2006, the offensive line plowed the way for Gore's franchise record 1,695 rushing yards, which topped the NFC. The unit was able to help Gore churn out 100-yard games nine times over the course of the season while finishing with a sixth overall NFL ranking in the rushing game and second NFL finish in average yards per rush (5.0 avg.).

Warhop joined San Francisco after spending two seasons with the Dallas Cowboys. In his two years with the Cowboys, Warhop's offensive line helped account for 3,768 rushing yards, 25 rushing touchdowns and 216 first downs. Under Warhop's tutelage, T Flozell Adams earned his first Pro Bowl nod after the 2003 season, and was named by his NFL peers as first alternate in 2004. Allen, his teammate in the trenches, was also named to the Pro Bowl during Warhop's stretch in 2003 and 2004 for his outstanding performance at guard after missing the all-star game in Hawaii in 2002.

Prior to his stint with Dallas, he spent five seasons as the offensive line coach for the Arizona Cardinals. During his five years with the Cardinals offensive line, Warhop tutored a group who was able to steadily decline the quarterback sacks allowed from the 78 surrendered in 1997 before his arrival, to 50 (1998), 45 (1999), 35 (2000) and 29 (2001). The latter was the second-fewest in franchise history in a 16-game season, trailing only the 22-sack effort of the 1978 line. Largely because of Warhop and his troops' work, Arizona averaged 4.5 yards per carry on the ground, the tenth-best per carry average in the league and the team's highest average in 17 seasons.

In 1998, his first season with the Cardinals, Warhop's linemen allowed 50 sacks, a 28-sack improvement over the previous season. Warhop's first Cardinals' line also merited credit for Arizona's 18 rushing touchdowns, exceeding the combined totals of the previous two seasons (eight in 1996 and nine in 1997).

Prior to joining the Cardinals, Warhop spent the 1996-97 campaigns as an offensive line assistant with the St. Louis Rams, working with Jim Hanifan. Warhop was offensive line coach at Southern Methodist University in 1993 and then served in a similar capacity at Boston College from 1994-95. From 1991-92, he was the offensive coordinator for the London Monarchs of the World Football League, helping the team win the World Bowl in his first season.

He entered the coaching arena in 1983 at his alma mater, Cincinnati, and then served on the offensive staffs at Kansas (1984-86), Vanderbilt (1987-89) and New Mexico (1990-91).

Warhop and his wife, Lori, have a daughter, Olivia, and a son, Jacob.

SONG AND BAAS MAN

David is a huge karaoke fan. Pairing up with his University of Michigan teammate TE Tyler Ecker, the duet frequently sang at public and team functions. From there, his notoriety for singing took off as he was often seen belting out pop, rock, country and even a little rhythm and blues. At his sister's wedding, he sang Tim McGraw's "Please Remember Me." He tackled the national anthem twice in public settings, and he began working on a wide range of stylings that included such disparate efforts as Josh Groban's "You Raise Me Up" to old R&B standards, to hip-hop.

IN REMEMBRANCE

Arnaz's tough, hard-nosed play is described by some as competing with a chip on his shoulder. However, Arnaz would express it as playing with an angel instead of a chip in remembrance of his younger brother, Brandon. When Arnaz was nine years old, Brandon passed away in a tragic drowning accident. That memory is a moment from which Arnaz draws strength and inspiration. On his upper left arm appears a tattoo of his late brother's face that runs from the tip of his shoulder to his bicep. "Brandon will always be a part of me," Arnaz said.

AWARDS & HONORS:

2007: Thomas Herrion Award

IN YOUR HONOR

Tarell was the recipient of the Thomas Herrion Award in 2007. The honor is given to the 49ers rookie or first-year player who best exemplifies the spirit of Herrion, the former San Francisco lineman who died in August of 2005. It's not only his work ethic that got Brown to where he is today, but also his ability to overcome a variety of challenges throughout his young life. At the age of nine, Brown's mother was killed as she was getting into her car to work early in the morning. Following his mother's death, Brown moved in with his father, Robert, who lived across town. His father not only saw football as an escape for his son, but also as an opportunity for him to earn a scholarship and a solid education. Just prior to the NFL Draft, his father died of a heart attack on Valentine's Day. Still, Brown quickly impressed 49ers coaches and teammates upon his arrival at the team's mini-camp, and has continued to show his worthiness ever since.

TOUGH LOVE

Nate's disciplined approach, humble manner and self-motivation stems from a strong figure in his life, his father. Nate Sr. made sure that his young, talented son was focused solely on school and football so that he could achieve his dream of attending Ohio State on scholarship. Nate worked out at 6 a.m. before school started during his junior and senior years at Shaker Heights High School in Ohio and stayed up until midnight to finish his homework and study for the SAT's after he finished football practice. Nate later became the first player inducted into his high school Hall of Fame and was a USA Today All-American at Ohio State. Nate Sr. has pushed him all the way, and still does today. After being voted to the Pro Bowl twice in the NFL, Nate Sr. told his son that while the All-Star game was an impressive achievement, maintaining consistency is how Nate would truly leave his mark in the league and eventually earn the ultimate honor – Pro Football Hall of Fame status.

PERSONAL:

- Was a USA Today, Blue Chip Illustrated and Super Prep All-America selection at Shaker Heights (OH) High School, where he also was an all-state selection. Tallied 14 interceptions throughout high school career.
- During senior season, picked off seven passes, returning one for a touchdown, and had 14 passes defensed. Also scored twice on kickoff returns. Also competed at quarterback, throwing 16 touchdown passes.
- Enjoys golfing in spare time, and has aspirations to turn pro when his football playing days are over.
- Became first player inducted into high school's Hall of Fame.
- Born Nathan D. Clements (12-12-79) in Shaker Heights, OH. Married to Melissa.

TEAM IR

A fifth-round pick in 2007, Cohen's rookie season was cut short in the 49ers preseason game against San Diego when he went down to an ACL injury. Surgery to repair the ACL injury also caused some physical aches, ones that Cohen pushed through with the help of his 'Team IR.' "Jay Moore and Manny Lawson pretty much went through it all with me," said Cohen. "It was pretty tough, but with guys like that around you and the kind of training staff we have here, it helped me bounce back." The three even got a little competitive when it came to rehabbing their respective injuries. "I think we all tried to beat each other up here, and see who could get here first in the morning," said Cohen. "We definitely put in some work and we all pushed each other to do more so that we'd get better. I definitely thank those guys."

SMOCKS FOR JOCKS

Vernon brought his football and artistic talents together when he took part in the NFL Players Association and NFL Retired Players Association's Smocks and Jocks event at Super Bowl XLI in South Florida. The annual event unites retired and active players of the NFL to auction off their own original artistic works for charity. Vernon entered a piece called "Kissing Him," which was displayed and auctioned at a jazz brunch in South Beach the Saturday before the Super Bowl. Vernon switched his original major in college, criminal justice, to art studio so he could pursue his passion of art. He has since showed the world a different side of pro football players.

REUNITED

Aubrayo had several options upon entering 2007 free agency, but the 49ers were the most enticing to him due in part to his connection with Head Coach Mike Nolan. "My decision was driven because of my relationship with Coach Nolan and the chance to play in a defense that I'm familiar with," said Franklin. "Coach Nolan was big for me my first couple of years in Baltimore. He kept motivating me to keep getting better." Nolan, who was the Ravens defensive coordinator when Baltimore drafted Aubrayo in the fifth round of the 2003 draft, believes Aubrayo fits the description of a prototypical nose tackle in a 3-4 defense.

RUNNING FOR MOM

Frank's determination to run over defenders comes from his tough upbringing in Miami, FL. Some considered his football career over when he suffered two serious knee injuries at the University of Miami. However, he relied on his mother Liz's strength to help him through. "She had been on dialysis (awaiting a kidney transplant) since I was in the 11th grade and raised three kids as a single woman," Frank said. Unfortunately, Liz lost her battle with kidney disease before the 49ers second game of the 2007 season against the St. Louis Rams. Playing with a heavy heart, Gore responded by rushing for 81 yards and two touchdowns, including a 43-yard score on a fourth-and-one carry, helping the 49ers to a 17-16 victory.

SWITCH IT UP

Dennis joined the 49ers after spending his first three years as a member of the Ravens. Although he's made his mark in the NFL at linebacker, Dennis thought that he'd excel as a running back coming out of high school. Once he arrived at the University of Virginia, those ambitions of carrying the ball immediately changed. "In high school, I thought I was an All-American running back," said Dennis. "When I arrived at the University of Virginia, Head Coach George Welsh came up to me the first or second day I got there and said, 'Dennis, do you want to be in the NFL?' And I said, 'Yes.' And he said, 'I think you should switch your position because you're a natural linebacker.' Of course, I couldn't disagree with a Hall-of-Fame coach like him." Haley's switch to defense paid off for him as he enters his fourth year in the NFL.

NO PAIN, NO GAIN

Parys' diligent work ethic was instilled at the age of 14. While growing up in Flora, Mississippi, his uncle and grandparents gave him an early introduction to life in the real world. He worked with his uncle at Sun Belt Bolts and Screws until he was 18 years old. After that, he labored in his grandfather's junk yard. Parys says his family helped instill the blue-collar foundation he leans on now as an NFL player. "You had to have a hard work ethic because it was an eight-hour job in the hot Mississippi sun. Sometimes I didn't want to go, but my grandparents made me go because if I didn't work for what I wanted, they weren't going to give it to me." Those lessons taught Parys that good things don't come without hard work and perseverance.

MAKING AN IMPACT

A San Francisco native, Hill was on cloud nine when he was selected by the 49ers due to the fact that he could make an impact both on and off the field. One example was during Christmas when Hill played the role of Santa Claus in the San Francisco park, where he once shot hoops and dreamed of bigger things. "I was one of the lucky ones," Hill said as he handed out thousands of dollars worth of toys he had bought for neighborhood kids who lined up outside the clubhouse of the park. "He's seen a lot of his friends die," said his mother, Laverne Videaux. "The environment was drug-infested." At the same time, she said proudly, all six of her children have grown up educated and "very respectable." Hill "did his schoolwork, he played sports, he was totally focused," recalled an aunt, Barbara Lubinski. About 100 youngsters, ages 1 to 16, picked up Christmas presents in a little over an hour, leaving 20 more gifts that Videaux said would be taken to the Tenderloin for another event. Hill, who friends say has also sponsored a dinner for the homeless and a park refurbishing at Hunters Point, said he plans to make the Hayward Park giveaway an annual occasion. "I want to give a kid something positive to remember maybe 10, 20 years from now," Hill said. "I'm from here. There's no other choice for me."

- Named All-Pac 10 Conference second-team as a junior by league's coaches and College Football News as he finished fourth in Pac-10 with a career-high 1,097 yards on a team-high 62 receptions (17.7 avg.). Broke his own school season-record set in 2004 (12) with 13 touchdown catches.
- Moved into starting lineup as a sophomore at split end, leading team with 45 receptions for 1,007 yards (22.4 avg.) and a then-school season-record 12 touchdowns. Earned All-Pac 10 Conference second-team choice, adding team Offensive Most Valuable Player honors.
- Played in 12 games on special teams as a true freshman, recording a team-high 12 tackles and also blocked a punt that he returned 25 yards.
- Majored in sociology.

PERSONAL:

- Attended Sacred Heart (San Francisco, CA) Cathedral High School, where he was runner-up for the City of San Francisco Player of the Year Award as a senior, and added honorable mention All-Region accolades as a defensive back and wide receiver by the San Francisco Chronicle.
- Helped Sacred Heart clinch a win over St. Ignatius with an interception return for a touchdown in oldest high school rivalry west of the Mississippi River, dating back to 1893. The team finished with a 9-1 record during his final campaign.
- One of six children (two brothers, Paul and Jerry, and three sisters, Mary, Helen, and Paula) of LaVerne Videau and the late Jerry Hill.
- Born Jason Hill (2-20-85) in San Francisco, CA.

SKILL SWAP

Johnson, a huge basketball fan, lettered two years in basketball at Baltimore City (MD) College High School. "I played in high school and all growing up. I enjoy playing now to stay in shape." The 6-3 Johnson played "a little bit of everything in high school," including center. A strong rebounder, the wide receiver was also the defensive stopper at his school, designed to shut down the opponent's best player. An explosive jumper, Johnson said he transferred the skills he learned on the hardwood to the gridiron. "Basketball teaches you body position," Johnson said. "When I have a defensive back on me, I sometimes try to use my body position like a rebound to come down with the ball."

ACADEMICS FIRST

When the 49ers drafted Manny, they received a player that not only had ideal physical attributes, but one who also possessed an impressive mental capacity. Manny, whose father was in the Air Force and mother was a residential nurse, was taught the values of discipline at an early age. Academics always came first and athletics were just for fun. Anything below a B+ was not satisfactory to his parents. Fast forward a few years and the early lessons paid off as Manny graduated with a degree in industrial engineering from North Carolina State. He then went on to score a 43 out of 50 on the Wonderlic test, which tied for the highest of his draft class.

GRAND ENTRANCE

Andy never attended an NFL game growing up in South Carolina. Even when he went on to become a standout punter on the collegiate level at the University of Pittsburgh, he was still a stranger to live NFL action. The first professional game he ever attended was as a player with the 49ers in 2004. In fact, Andy didn't even set out to play football at all. "I was more of a baseball guy growing up. I actually wanted to be a Major League Baseball player. I played quarterback in eighth grade, and the coach asked, 'Who wants to try out for the punting position?' I didn't know you were supposed to spiral a punt, or turn it over, or any of that."

Brandon's trip back to his Long Island, New York high school alma mater on February 13, 2005 was one that the Baldwin Bruin's football team will never forget. His former squad cruised to a 10-1 season topped with a Nassau Conference I football championship. Brandon presented the team and coaches with 56 championship rings that he purchased on his own. The group celebrated the program's first title since 1953. For his achievements as one of Long Island's finest football players, and for his gracious gesture, Baldwin retired Brandon's No. 6 jersey with a prominent display on the gym wall.

TEE IT UP

Leading up to the 2007 NFL Draft, Jay wanted nothing more than to relieve the anxiety that comes with the selection process and evaluations. Hence, he started working rigorously on his game – his golf game that is. The whole week leading up to the draft, you could find Jay on the links. "Getting out on the golf course just made me forget and put me in my own state of mind," said Jay. "You could spend all day on the Internet reading about the draft, but I didn't get too caught up in it." Jay, who has a handicap of around seven to eight, was eventually selected in the fourth round by the 49ers. He provided an impressive showing to 49ers' coaches at the 2007 Senior Bowl, where he tallied three sacks and two forced fumbles.

MARKED FOR SUCCESS

While playing for the Arizona Cardinals, Joe got a tattoo that every player strives for. "A local tattoo artist in Flagstaff put his artwork up for a silent auction item," Nedney said. "Whoever was the highest bidder got the artwork they wanted on their body." All of the proceeds went to a charity that supports Northern Arizona youth football. Joe made the winning bid and decided to permanently align himself with the NFL logo. "I brought the logo in and the artist put his own little flair into it. I figured I would get the NFL logo and not the team logo because if I put the team logo I would probably have about nine logos on my leg. I figured that would be a safe bet," Nedney joked.

GOING THE EXTRA MILE

When he's not paving the way for Frank Gore to run, fullback Moran Norris can be found working within his community. In 2005, Moran founded the Moran Norris Foundation, seeking to help Houston-area students become champions in Athletics, Character and Education. Here in the Bay Area, Moran recently "adopted" a group of students in the Brother2Brother/Sister2Sister Mentoring Program in San Francisco as part of his Foundation's initiatives. Norris hosts the youngsters at 49ers games, provides them with financial support and teaches them the importance of life skills, education, goal setting, hard work and good character. "When I was growing up I remember this football player came and he used to come and just talk to the kids and I still remember that day. It was pretty cool and he really inspired me. I felt like if I ever had a chance to go back like that, I would do the same thing," Norris said.

"I don't want to divulge exactly how many autographs I have of certain guys, but I definitely know the autograph tendencies of everybody on those '94 and '95 Niners. Those were special teams for me. I really enjoyed the early '90s when they were in Rocklin. It'll be fun to be a part of a franchise you watched growing up."

SPECIAL DAY

Success was in the stars for Alan Reuber from his first day on earth. The offensive lineman was born Jan. 26, 1981. Alan shares the same birth date as Wayne Gretzky, Douglas MacArthur, Eddie Van Halen and Paul Newman. The affable Reuber also said he enjoys the camaraderie of his offensive line counterparts since joining the team after the first week of OTAs. "Everything has been top-notch and really pleasant. The O-line gets along great. That's the one thing that's different here than other places I've been. The O-line seems to be a good, close group. They all hang out on the weekends and they hang out after practice. Sometimes that lacks on other teams. And I think that's how you come together as a group – you hang out off the field."

ALLEN THE ADVOCATE

A physical fitness advocate, Rossum has challenged more than 2,500 youth to live healthier lives by speaking out on the importance of exercise, making smart choices, and the battle his own family has experienced with fighting obesity. In 2003, Allen was a lead advocate for GA House Bill 1013 (The Recess Bill) with State Representative 54 Sally Harrell. The Recess Bill would have ensured Georgia elementary and middle school students receive at least one daily, supervised 15-minute break for physical activity. Although the Bill did not pass successfully, it brought light to an issue that at the time received very little attention. "I remember parents laughing and asking why is there a need for a recess bill? They had no idea that their kids weren't receiving recess during the day. Needless to say their laughter turned to anger when the children confirmed the need," recalls Rossum. He has received numerous awards including the 2004 National Kids Day America Empowerment Award, 2005 Falcons Man of the Year, and the Fatherhood Award from the NFL in 2005, past recipients included Tim McGraw, James Earl Jones and Jim Kelly.

- Appeared at Georgia state capitol as a spokesman for Recess Bill (House Bill (1013).
- Born Allen Rossum on October 22, 1975 in Dallas, TX. He and his wife, Angela, have four daughters: Trinity Amaia, Talia Alyse, and twins Alexa and Avian. Won National Fatherhood Award in 2005.

BEATING THE ODDS

Barry didn't have as easy an entrance into the NFL as one might think. It took determination, hard work and a bit of luck for him to beat the odds. Barry never seriously thought about going pro until after his junior season at the University of Utah. With the support of family and friends, he trained hard and had a productive senior year as he was selected to the Hula Bowl All Star game. Everything was looking promising for the ambitious lineman, but a couple days before the honorary game, Sims blew out his knee in practice. He ended up spending the next year in Salt Lake City rehabbing his injury. Once the rehabilitation concluded, Barry was eager to sign with a team. However, many teams were skeptical about whether his knee would hold up. As time was running out, an opportunity arose in NFL Europe, and Barry was selected in the 17th round of the 1999 NFLE Draft by the Scottish Claymores. He shined overseas and was signed as a free agent by the Raiders in July of 1999. After just four regular season games with the Raiders, he made his first NFL start, and has since gone on to make over 100 more. In 2004, Barry was inducted into the Scottish Claymores Football Hall of Fame.

WORTH HIS WEIGHT

In early 2007, Alex committed $500,000 to the University of Utah's athletic department. The generous donation was the lead gift for the Alex Smith Strength and Conditioning Facility—a $1.5 million expansion of Utah's varsity athletics weight room. The money kicked off a campaign to raise the remaining funds for the project. Plans call for the expansion of the Dee Glen Smith Center, which houses the strength and conditioning room, as well as the football coaching offices, meeting, training and equipment rooms. The facility covers 11,000 square feet—a 3,500 square foot improvement from its current size, and features new lifting stations and cardiovascular conditioning space.

CHANGE IS GOOD

Justin was one of the most sought after free agents in the NFL this past offseason. When the 49ers brought Justin in for a visit, they knew they had to sell the Midwesterner on the California lifestyle. Justin, who often wears cowboy boots and grew up on his father's cattle ranch in Missouri, discussed the 49ers defensive philosophy in depth with the team's coaches and was also taken on a helicopter tour of the city. It didn't take long for Justin to make his decision as he cancelled his future visits with prospective teams and signed with San Francisco. "It's just been a very welcomed change," said Justin. "I love the weather. I feel re-energized and I'm excited about the year." Although Justin looks to play in San Francisco for several years to come, he looks to eventually return to his roots. "When I'm done playing ball, I'll probably move to Missouri or Texas and get a ranch. That's how I grew up. I think it teaches you survival. I've lived in the suburbs since playing in the NFL and I look around and see kids with nothing to do. On the farm, there was always something to do. I wouldn't have dreamed of watching television."

- Had key sack of QB Eli Manning vs. New York Giants (12-26), forcing Giants to settle for field goal and 19-17 lead in game Bengals came back to win 23-22.

2003 (Cincinnati):

- Started all 16 games, leading defensive line with 91 tackles and ranking third on team with five sacks. His 91 tackles were 28 more than any other Bengals defensive lineman.
- Led team with 13 tackles in victory vs. Baltimore (10-19).

2002 (Cincinnati):

- Started all 16 games, leading team with 6.5 sacks to go along with 67 tackles and two forced fumbles. His sack total gave him 15 for his first two seasons, marking most by a Bengal in first two Cincinnati campaigns since 1976-77.

2001 (Cincinnati):

- Played in 15 games with 11 starts and missed season-opener due to protracted contract negotiations, finishing season with a rookie record 8.5 sacks (breaking James Francis 8.0 in 1990). Also tallied 67 tackles, two interceptions and two passes defensed.
- Recorded first career sack at San Diego (9-30), dropping QB Doug Flutie for 13-yard loss.
- Posted first NFL interception at Detroit (10-28) with a 21-yard return of a QB Charlie Batch pass.
- Had three sacks on QB Mark Brunell vs. Jacksonville (12-9).

COLLEGE:

- Entered 2001 NFL Draft after junior season at Missouri, where he logged 11 sacks, 97 tackles and 24 tackles for loss. His sacks and tackles for loss set school season records, and he set school records two years in a row, having logged eight sacks as a sophomore.

HOME GROWN HULK

Growing up in American Samoa, Isaac's first sport was rugby. Part of his conditioning routine was to build up his arms by lifting bags filled with coconuts and logs from chopped down trees. The leg workout was also geographically geared. "Have you ever seen a 325-pound guy climb a coconut tree?" Isaac didn't go on to play football until late in his career. That changed when he went to junior college in Southern California and then to the University of Hawaii, where his athleticism and size landed him on the NFL radar.

I don't really care about anything else except winning. I just want to go to the playoffs." To do his part, Shawntae said he participated in former NFL receiver Cris Carter's "Fast Program" in Coral Gables, Florida, in June of 2006 to step up his game. He said the sessions allowed him to learn how receivers think and how to read splits. "Ultimately, I've still got to study it myself, but it did really help."

BOBBLEHEAD

Although Joe Staley completed a successful rookie year, he thought the rookie pranks were over when he got a call this off-season from a marketing company that was looking to create a bobblehead of him for a hometown baseball promotion. The former Rockford High School and Central Michigan star was taken back by it. "It's pretty crazy," said Staley. "It's kind of crazy to have something that has your likeness on it. It kind of freaked me out." Staley's bobblehead was given out to the first 1,000 fans at Fifth Third Ballpark on Friday when the West Michigan Whitecaps faced the Lansing Lugnuts in a baseball game. On the bobblehead, Staley is holding a helmet and is decked out in his high school uniform with the No. 84 on his jersey. "I think they were going for my retro-Rockford days. In the current day, you would have to put 200 pounds on that doll," said Staley who was a relay runner and tight end in high school. Staley's mother, Jan, also has seen the doll, and agrees with her son. "It's very unique, and when we saw it he definitely looks a lot thinner than he is now," she said. "It's cute and he looks like NASCAR driver Tony Stewart."

I took Spanish classes, but I'd go to visit them and I'd start talking with their parents and accidentally threw in some inappropriate words. They were understanding and appreciated the effort. My wife and I try to take some trips there, and then my dad and I also go on hunting trips to Mexico, so I end up going about two or three times a year. I really have an affinity for the country. The people are great and very welcoming. I stand out like a sore thumb there, that's for sure, but once I speak Spanish they're happy," Terry said.

THREE FLAGS UP

Delanie caught General Manager Scot McCloughan's eye during his two collegiate stops. In 39 games at Mt. San Antonio College and Central Missouri State, Walker caught 199 passes for 2,659 yards and 23 touchdowns. In 20 games for the Mules, he accumulated 2,578 all-purpose yards. "The thing you look for when you're watching a guy like that is, 'Does he dominate on that level?" McCloughan said. "And he dominated." Delanie said he developed his skills as a youngster while playing a game called "Three Flags Up." There were no teams. Whoever had the ball kept it until being tackled. Delanie was tough to bring down and extremely elusive, qualities he's confident will transfer to the professional level.

SETTING BAR HIGH

Patrick Willis set the bar high when he arrived at the facility to play for the 49ers. Willis chose to wear the number 52 with San Francisco because of his affinity for Ravens linebacker Ray Lewis. Willis has been enamored with Lewis' playing style ever since watching the Ravens' Super Bowl victory in January 2001. He proclaimed the Baltimore veteran as his favorite NFL player when he was drafted, though he had never attended a Ravens game. Hall of Fame linebacker and 49ers Assistant Head Coach Mike Singletary said although he is young, with hard work Willis can get to the same level of the Baltimore linebacker. The great thing about Patrick is that he has a chance to get to that place where Ray already is," Singletary said. "There's a thing in this game about passing the baton, and I could see that possibly happening. I'm very excited for the possibility. I want to see how (Willis) handles success, and how he handles the comparisons." Willis and Lewis spoke after the two teams squared off against each other in 2007 and a friendship was born. "I think it's scary because as soon as I met him, I told him his energy is amazing," said Lewis. "I love Patrick. When we played them earlier in the year in San Francisco, we met after the game, shook hands and exchanged numbers. We've been friends ever since. I think it's a great relationship because I believe I can help him a lot, not just on the field but off the field as a man as well. He's probably one of the greatest people you can ever meet and probably one of the greatest athletes in the league."

THE PRIDE OF THE 49ERS IS IN YOUR HANDS.

Yes, the Media Guide that you are now holding in your hands chronicles the past glories and the present hopes of one of the league's most successful organizations. So why would a corporation known around the world entrust the printing of their storied franchise history to a company in the rural farmland of Ohio? Like many other NFL teams over the past 17 years the San Francisco 49ers have recognized that excellence in performance is not a function of geography, but of a commitment to continuous improvement and execution on the field.

The Herald Printing Company for the past 127 years has remained on the cutting edge of print communication technology. We have sheet fed, web and digital presses that can tackle any job that comes our way. Our strong prepress department, fulfillment capability and mailing expertise is second to none. However, it is our people who show up every day, take great pride in their work and perform their job consistently who are the backbone of our success.

If quality, service and dollar value are important to your business game plan, then give us a call and let our team of professionals help you achieve your marketing goals.

Game 1
SAN FRANCISCO 20, ARIZONA 17
At San Francisco, September 10, 2007

On a night when the San Francisco 49ers honored legendary head coach Bill Walsh in a special halftime ceremony, the 49ers showed comeback magic, rallying to pull out a 20-17 victory over division rival Arizona in front of the home fans on Monday Night Football. The win over Arizona snapped a four-game losing streak following series sweeps in 2005 and 2006. Down 17-13 with 2:58 to play in the fourth quarter, QB Alex Smith engineered a 12-play, 86-yard drive that started at the 14 and was capped by a one-yard touchdown run by WR Arnaz Battle with just 22 seconds left to play to put the 49ers in front, 20-17. Smith entered the final drive with just 66 yards passing, but completed six-of-10 for 60 yards with 25 yards rushing. After completing passes of 10 yards to Battle and then a 16-yard strike to WR Darrell Jackson, the 49ers offense was faced with a fourth-and-one from the Arizona 45-yard line. Smith showcased his scrambling ability on a 25-yard run to get down to the Arizona 20-yard line with 1:23 to play. Then with just 32 seconds to play, Smith completed a 22-yard pass to Battle to get to the one-yard line. Battle fumbled on the play and the ball was recovered by the 49ers in the end zone. By rule, the ball was spotted at the point of the fumble, giving the 49ers a first down at the one-yard line with 26 seconds to play. Battle scored on a one-yard touchdown run on the end around, and CB Shawntae Spencer intercepted a QB Matt Leinart desperation pass to seal the victory. While the 49ers offense struggled for most of the day, the improved 49ers secondary limited the Cardinals to just 100 net yards passing after giving up an average of 326.8 yards passing in the four consecutive losses to Arizona. On Arizona's first offensive play, CB Walt Harris stepped in front of WR Larry Fitzgerald and intercepted a Leinart pass at the 29 and returned it 23 yards to the Cardinals six-yard line to set up a six-yard touchdown run by RB Frank Gore. The Cardinals scored 10 points in the second quarter on two costly mistakes by the 49ers. Late in the first quarter, S Keith Lewis was called for running into the kicker, allowing Arizona to keep a drive going on a series that ended in a field goal early in the second quarter. On the 49ers next offensive possession, Smith lost a fumble on a sack, allowing the Cardinals to recover at the San Francisco 36-yard line to help lead to a Cardinals touchdown for a 10-7 lead. A 12-yard scramble by Smith on a third-and-10 play helped position the 49ers for a 33-yard field goal by PK Joe Nedney to send the game into a 10-10 tie at the half. The 49ers took advantage of good field position by their special teams units early in the third quarter after a 15-yard penalty on Arizona following a punt allowed the 49ers to start a drive at Cardinals 33-yard line to set up a 30-yard field goal by Nedney for a 13-10 lead. Arizona took a 17-13 lead with 6:46 left to play after capitalizing on two third-down conversions before Leinart connected with WR Anquan Boldin on a five-yard touchdown pass. Rookie LB Patrick Willis led the defense with 11 total tackles.

Game 2
SAN FRANCISCO 17, ST. LOUIS 16
At St. Louis, September 16, 2007

The San Francisco 49ers improved to a 2-0 record with a 17-16 victory over the St. Louis Rams at the Edward Jones Dome. A long touchdown run by RB Frank Gore on offense, a forced fumble by CB Nate Clements on defense and a recovery of a muffed punt by the special teams unit helped lead San Francisco to the win. Gore, who played with a heavy heart following the death of his mother earlier in the week, had the biggest offensive play of the day. Gore broke through the line on his way to a 43-yard touchdown on a fourth-and-one play from the St. Louis 43-yard line in the third quarter to give the 49ers a 14-13 lead. The touchdown series was set up by a huge play by Clements. Nursing a 13-7 lead, St. Louis moved to the San Francisco 28-yard line where QB Marc Bulger connected with WR Torry Holt on a crossing route. Holt caught the ball on the run at the eight-yard line and appeared to be heading into the end zone when Clements came up behind him and knocked the ball loose. The ball skipped out of the end zone, resulting in a touchback for the 49ers to end the scoring threat. QB Alex Smith fumbled the ball on a sack in the fourth quarter, allowing the Rams to take over at the San Francisco 41-yard line. That turnover was converted into a 43-yard field goal for a 16-14 Rams lead. The 49ers were stopped on their next series, but Rams PR Dante Hall muffed a punt and CB Marcus Hudson recovered at the St. Louis 26-yard line to set up PK Joe Nedney's 40-yard game-winning field goal to give the 49ers a 17-16 advantage. The Rams reached the San Francisco 38-yard line with 1:04 to play and attempted a 57-yard field goal that fell short. The 49ers ran off the final 58 seconds to secure the win. St. Louis took a 7-0 first quarter lead after recovering a 49ers muffed punt at the 25-yard line to help set up a 21-yard touchdown pass from Bulger to Holt. The Rams were flagged for interference when they ran into PR Brandon Williams when he was trying to fair catch a punt later in the first quarter. San Francisco took over at the Rams 39-yard line where a 19-yard pass from QB Alex Smith to TE Vernon Davis helped to get in position for a one-yard touchdown run by Gore to tie the game at 7-7 early in the second quarter. The Rams responded with field goals on their next two drives to take a 13-7 halftime lead. The 49ers red zone defense deflected passes on third down on both of those drives and nearly made interceptions. Despite throwing for 368 yards, Bulger was sacked six times and hit 11 times by a relentless 49ers defense. DE Bryant Young had three of the six sacks and also forced a fumble on one of the sacks.

Game 3
PITTSBURGH 37, SAN FRANCISCO 16
At Pittsburgh, September 23, 2007

The San Francisco 49ers fell to 2-1 with a 37-16 loss to the Pittsburgh Steelers at Heinz Field. Down 17-6 late in the third quarter, QB Alex Smith moved the 49ers into Pittsburgh territory and then completed a 22-yard pass to TE Vernon Davis on third-and-13 for what appeared to be a first down at the Steelers 10-yard line. Davis was ruled to have fumbled, and Pittsburgh recovered the loose ball and returned it 43 yards to the San Francisco 47-yard line. The 49ers challenged the ruling on the field, believing that Davis was down at the 10-yard line before the fumble. The referees reversed the call on the field, but ruled that Davis did not have possession before the ball came loose and called the play an incompletion. The 49ers were forced to settle for a 50-yard field goal by PK Joe Nedney to close to 17-9. Momentum shifted Pittsburgh's way following the call with the Steelers scoring 20 fourth quarter points to secure the victory. Following the 49ers third quarter field goal, Pittsburgh added a pair of field goals on their next two offensive drives for a 23-9 lead. The 49ers ensuing drive ended when Smith was intercepted by CB Bryant McFadden, who returned the pick 50 yards for a touchdown for a 30-9 lead. A 20-yard pass to WR Darrell Jackson followed by a 25-yard run by Smith helped set up Smith's 21-yard touchdown pass to WR Taylor Jacobs to get the score to 30-16. A 39-yard touchdown run by RB Najeh Davenport at the two-minute warning closed out the Steelers 20-point fourth quarter. San Francisco, who entered the game with three straight road wins, had a chance to gain early momentum. The team opened the game with an 11-play, 61-yard drive that was culminated with a 32-yard field goal by Nedney. However, the lead was short lived when Pittsburgh KR Allen Rossum took the kickoff 98 yards for a touchdown. The 49ers had a chance late in the first quarter to take a lead after LB Hannibal Navies forced and recovered a QB Ben Roethlisberger fumble on a sack at the Pittsburgh 22-yard line. The 49ers moved to the Steelers four-yard line before being forced to settle for a field goal. The Steelers had a 12-play, 80-yard drive that was highlighted by RB Willie Parker runs of 23 and 16 yards to set up a nine-yard touchdown pass from Roethlisberger to TE Jerame Tuman. Parker gained 133 of the Steelers 205 rushing yards.

Game 4
SEATTLE 23, SAN FRANCISCO 3
At San Francisco, September 30, 2007

The San Francisco 49ers fell short in a battle for first place in the NFC West with a 23-3 loss to the visiting Seattle Seahawks. The game got off to an inauspicious start when QB Alex Smith was forced to leave the game after hurting his right shoulder following a third-down sack on the 49ers first drive. Backup QB Trent Dilfer, playing in his first NFL game since the 2005 season, completed 12-of-33 passes for 128 yards, including two interceptions which helped set up 10 Seattle points. Despite losing one of five fumbles, surrendering six sacks and generating just 87 first half yards of total offense compared to 244 by Seattle, the 49ers were down just 13-0 at halftime. The defense and special teams units kept the 49ers in the game despite a struggling offense. S Keith Lewis provided the only highlight for the 49ers in the first half when he tipped a Seahawks punt, resulting in a 49ers first down at the Seattle 48-yard line. The offense failed to capitalize on the key field position and was forced to punt. The team opened the second half with a successful onsides kick but any momentum the 49ers gained was killed when Dilfer's first pass of the series was intercepted by CB Marcus Trufant and returned 24 yards to the San Francisco 44-yard line. Seattle converted the turnover into a 14-yard touchdown pass from QB Matt Hasselbeck to TE Marcus Pollard to extend their lead to 20-0. The 49ers only points of the day came later in the third quarter when a CB Nate Clements interception helped set up a 43-yard field goal by PK Joe Nedney. After a scoreless first quarter, Seattle scored 13 points in the second quarter. After culminating an 11-play, 52-yard drive with a 23-yard field goal, Hasselbeck and Seattle's potent passing attack burned the 49ers secondary for two quick scores on their last two offensive series of the first half. First, Hasslebeck completed a 65-yard pass to WR Deion Branch for a first down at the San Francisco 17-yard line. On the next play, Hasselbeck hit WR Bobby Engram in the back of the end zone for a 17-yard touchdown and a 10-0 lead. Then, Haselbeck completed a short pass to Branch, who scrambled down the sideline for a 31-yard gain to get into San Francisco territory before being forced to settle for a field goal and a 13-0 lead. Trufant intercepted Dilfer for a second time late in the third quarter to position the Seahawks for their final field goal early in the fourth quarter. Rookie LB Patrick Willis led the team with 12 total tackles, as the 49ers defense held Seattle to an average of 2.5 yards rushing.

Game 5
BALTIMORE 9, SAN FRANCISCO 7
At San Francisco, October 7, 2007

In a match-up of Baltimore's veteran defense against the San Francisco 49ers up and coming defense, Head Coach Mike Nolan said he knew the game would be decided in the final moments. Despite generating just six first downs and 163 yards of total offense, the 49ers moved 40 yards to reach the Baltimore 34-yard line with 2:44 to play and a chance to kick a field to get the win. RB Frank Gore was stopped on a third-and-nine play, setting up a 52-yard field goal try by PK Joe Nedney. The field goal attempt had the distance but sailed wide to the right, allowing Baltimore to run out the final minutes of the game to secure a 9-7 victory. QB Trent Dilfer made his first start as a member of the 49ers, playing in place of QB Alex Smith who was out with a shoulder injury. Dilfer completed 12-of-19 passes for 126 yards with one touchdown pass and one interception. Dilfer attempted to get the 49ers back in the game after the team fell behind 9-0 in the third quarter when he dodged a heavy blitz and completed a 42-yard pass to WR Bryan Gilmore for a 49ers first down at the Baltimore 23-yard line. On the next play from scrimmage, Dilfer completed a 23-yard touchdown pass to WR Arnaz Battle to cut the Ravens lead to 9-7. After a scoreless first quarter, Baltimore scored field goals on two consecutive second quarter drives to take a 6-0 lead. The Ravens defense held the 49ers to just one first down and only 38 yard in total offense in the first half. Baltimore intercepted Dilfer on the 49ers first drive in the third quarter when S Ed Reed caught an overthrown ball and returned it to the San Francisco 42-yard line. Baltimore moved to the 49ers 31-yard line before PK Matt Stover connected on a 49-yard field goal to extend the Ravens lead to 9-0. Rookie LB Patrick Willis had his fifth consecutive game with over 10 tackles, tying LB Derek Smith with 12 total stops.

Game 6
NEW YORK GIANTS 33, SAN FRANCISCO 15
At East Rutherford, NJ, October 21, 2007

The San Francisco 49ers fell to a 2-4 season record after a 33-15 loss to the New York Giants at Giants Stadium. The Giants scored 24 of their 33 points on four 49ers turnovers. Three of San Francisco's turnovers occurred inside their own 30-yard line. The other turnover happened when QB Trent Dilfer lost a fumble on an eight-yard sack by DE Osi Umenyiora after the 49ers reached the Giants 15-yard line early in the third quarter. Umenyiora scooped up the loose ball and raced 75 yards untouched for a touchdown. After falling to a 19-7 halftime deficit, the 49ers took the second half kickoff and appeared to have things in place to get back into the game. A 47-yard pass from Dilfer to WR Ashley Lelie got the 49ers into Giants territory. The team reached the Giants 15-yard line before suffering their most costly turnover of the game to end the scoring threat on the Umenyiora sack play. The Giants opened the game with a 13-play, 86-yard drive that was culminated with a four-yard touchdown pass from QB Eli Manning to WR Amani Toomer. The 49ers caught a break when the Giants missed the extra point attempt. The Giants moved the ball with ease on their next possession to the San Francisco 20-yard line before LB Derek Smith intercepted a deflected pass to end a Giants drive. The 49ers responded by moving to the Giants 18-yard line where RB Frank Gore converted a fourth-and-one situation to set up a 17-yard touchdown pass from Dilfer to WR Arnaz Battle. PK Joe Nedney's successful extra point attempt gave the 49ers a 7-6 lead early in the second quarter. The 49ers turned the ball over on the first play of each of their next two drives, leading to ten points for a 16-7 Giants lead. Dilfer and Gore fumbled the exchange on a handoff on a play from the San Francisco 30-yard line, and the Giants took over and scored a touchdown for a 13-7 lead. Then on the next series, Dilfer was intercepted, positioning the Giants for a field goal and a 16-7 advantage. The Giants were backed to their own 11-yard line with 1:35 to play in the first half when Manning and Toomer connected for a 24-yard gain to get to midfield. The Giants moved to the San Francisco 21-yard line with 21 seconds to play to set up a field goal and a 19-7 halftime lead. The Giants extended their lead to 26-7 on the fumble return early in the third. The 49ers had another scoring chance after FB Moran Norris blocked a Giants punt out of the end zone for a safety, but the 49ers failed to capitalize on the ensuing series following the free kick. The 49ers first drive of the fourth quarter ended when Dilfer's pass was intercepted by the Giants at the San Francisco 33-yard line, setting up a two-yard touchdown pass from Manning to TE Jeremy Shockey for a 33-9 lead. San Francisco added another touchdown on a one-yard throw from Dilfer to WR Darrell Jackson with 16 seconds to play for a 33-15 final.

Game 7
NEW ORLEANS 31, SAN FRANCISCO 10
At San Francisco, October 28, 2007

New Orleans QB Drew Brees completed 31-of-39 pass attempts for 336 yards and hit WR Marques Colston with three of his four touchdown throws in the Saints 31-10 win over the 49ers at Monster Park to hand San Francisco its fifth-straight loss. The Saints scored 10 points in the first quarter and 14 in the second for a 24-0 halftime lead. The 49ers struggled to contain the Saints' offensive weapons, with RB Reggie Bush gaining 64 yards on 10 carries and catching seven passes for 49 yards. Colston finished with eight receptions for 84 yards with three touchdowns, and WR David Patten added 109 yards receiving on five catches. The Saints had four scoring drives of over 70 yards. It took New Orleans just four plays to get on the scoreboard. Brees hit Patten for a 43-yard gain on their first offensive play from scrimmage to get inside San Francisco territory. Two plays later, Brees hit Colston with a 17-yard touchdown pass for a quick 7-0 lead. After forcing the 49ers to punt from their own 11-yard line, the Saints capitalized on good field position and added a 26-yard field goal for a 10-0 first quarter lead. New Orleans scored touchdowns on their last two drives of the second quarter on a nine-play, 91-yard drive and a 10-play, 80-yard drive to take the 24-0 lead. The 49ers finally caught a break in the third quarter when CB Nate Clements stripped Colston of the football following a catch, allowing S Mark Roman to recover at the New Orleans 45-yard line. QB Alex Smith completed a short pass to RB Michael Robinson, who then broke a few tackles for a 20-yard gain to the 13-yard line to set up a PK Joe Nedney field goal. New Orleans put the game out of reach with an 11-play, 77-yard drive in the fourth quarter that was culminated with a 15-yard touchdown pass from Brees to Colston for a 31-3 lead. Smith, who returned to the starting lineup after missing two games with a shoulder injury, finally got the 49ers in the end zone late in the fourth quarter with a seven-yard touchdown pass to TE Vernon Davis to end a 15-play, 80-yard drive. Smith completed 22-of-43 passes for 190 yards. Rookie LB Patrick Willis had his seventh consecutive game with 10 or more tackles after finishing with a team-leading 10 total tackles.

Game 8
ATLANTA 20, SAN FRANCISCO 16
At Atlanta, November 4, 2007

The Atlanta Falcons handed the 49ers their sixth consecutive loss with a 20-16 victory at the Georgia Dome. The 49ers second half comeback attempt was halted by two drives deep into Atlanta territory that ended in field goals rather than touchdowns and two turnovers that were converted into six Atlanta points. The 49ers had drives to the Atlanta 14-yard line and one-yard line in the second half, which resulted in field goals. Atlanta converted a fumble inside Atlanta territory into a field goal and a Smith interception at the San Francisco 15-yard line into a field goal. After falling behind 14-7 at halftime, the 49ers opened the third quarter with a drive to the Atlanta 31-yard line to set up a 49-yard field goal by PK Joe Nedney. The 49ers appeared to get a break on the next series when S Michael Lewis intercepted a QB Joe Harrington pass inside Atlanta territory to give the 49ers a first down at the Atlanta 33-yard line. The 49ers moved to the 14-yard line before being forced to settle for a field goal to make it a one point game at 14-13. San Francisco's next two drives ended in turnovers. The 49ers defense held Atlanta following a QB Alex Smith interception that gave Atlanta a first down at the San Francisco 40-yard line. Harrington attempted to convert on fourth-and-one from the 31-yard line but was stopped and turned the ball over on downs. Two plays later Falcons DE John Abraham forced a fumble on a sack of Smith, allowing the Falcons to start a drive at the 36-yard line. That turnover was converted into a 33-yard field goal by PK Morten Andersen to extend the Falcons lead to 17-13 early in the fourth quarter. The 49ers responded on the ensuing drive and seemed poised to take the lead after reaching the Atlanta one-yard line. Smith completed a short pass to TE Vernon Davis, who appeared to have a clear path to the end zone before an Atlanta defender raced over and stopped him one yard short, setting up a third-and-goal situation. RB Michael Robinson was stuffed on the next play for a three-yard loss, and the 49ers were forced to settle for a 22-yard Nedney field goal to close the Atlanta lead to 17-16. With 2:29 to play and the 49ers backed at their own three-yard line, Smith was intercepted by CB DeAngelo Hall. Hall's 18-yard return to the 15-yard line set up a 27-yard field goal by PK Morten Andersen for a 20-16 Atlanta lead. San Francisco got the ball back with 1:10 to play but Smith threw his third interception of the day to clinch the win. The 49ers opened the game with an impressive 59-yard drive that was culminated with a nine-yard touchdown run by RB Maurice Hicks. Atlanta countered with a 70-yard touchdown drive to even the score and then took the lead in the second quarter after converting a fourth-down play and a third-and-short to set up a touchdown and a 14-7 halftime lead. Robinson and Hicks filled in at running back for an injured Frank Gore (ankle). Robinson had a career-high 67 yards on 17 carries, and Hicks had seven carries for 49 yards.

Game 9
SEATTLE 24, SAN FRANCISCO 0
At Seattle, November 12, 2007

The San Francisco 49ers dropped to a 2-7 record with their seventh straight loss, falling 24-0 to the Seattle Seahawks on Monday Night Football at Qwest Field. After falling behind 17-0 at halftime, the 49ers attempted a surprise onsides kick to open the second half. PK Joe Nedney executed a perfect kick, but as a sign of how the night went for the 49ers, the ball bounced in and out of RB Maurice Hicks hands and Seattle recovered. The 49ers had three opportunities to get back in the game in the third quarter. Seattle's first two drives of the second half ended in turnovers, including an interception that gave San Francisco a first down at the Seattle 23-yard line. Seattle also netted just a 35-yard punt when they were backed at their own six-yard line, allowing the 49ers to start a drive at the Seattle 41-yard line. The 49ers failed to take advantage of the good field position after being stopped on a fourth-and-one from the Seattle two-yard line and a fourth-and-three from the Seattle 23-yard line. NT Aubrayo Franklin stripped RB Maurice Morris of the football and S Michael Lewis recovered to end Seattle's first drive of the second half and give the 49ers a first down at their own 38-yard line. The drive stalled at the 50-yard line, but CB Nate Clements intercepted a QB Matt Hasselbeck pass on Seattle's next play from scrimmage to give the 49ers a first down at the 23-yard line. The 49ers moved to the two-yard line where they were stopped on fourth-and-short. Seattle took over on downs but was stopped on three straight plays and punted from their own six-yard line. Following the short punt from Seattle, San Francisco elected to go for the first down on a fourth-and-three from the Seattle 23-yard line, but QB Alex Smith's pass to WR Arnaz Battle fell incomplete. Seattle responded with a 12-play, 77-yard drive that resulted in a touchdown early in the fourth quarter to seal their 24-0 victory. Seattle scored on three of their first four drives to take a 17-0 halftime lead. Hasselbeck, who completed 27 passes for 278 yards, led Seattle on an 84-yard drive on their first possession before hitting TE Will Heller for a one-yard touchdown in the back of the end zone. Seattle DE Patrick Kerney forced a fumble on a nine-yard sack of Smith to give the Seahawks a first down at the San Francisco 21-yard line and set up a field goal for a 10-0 first quarter lead. After San Francisco was forced to punt from its own end zone in the second quarter, Seattle was able to take advantage of a drive that began at midfield. A 46-yard pass from Hasselbeck to WR D.J. Hackett helped set up a one-yard touchdown run by Morris for a 17-0 advantage. RB Frank Gore averaged 5.5 yards per carry on 13 rushing attempts for 72 yards.

Game 10
ST. LOUIS 13, SAN FRANCISCO 9
At San Francisco, November 18, 2007

Down 13-6 at the two-minute warning, the 49ers kicked a 46-yard field goal to close to 13-9 with 1:55 left to play and all three of its time outs remaining after Head Coach Mike Nolan elected to play for the win rather than a tie. The 49ers defense held the Rams to just two first downs and only 38 yards of offense in the entire second half to give Nolan confidence that the team would get the ball back and in possible position to get the win. Nolan's inclination proved to be correct despite a failed onsides kick. PK Joe Nedney attempted an onsides kick that was recovered by the Rams at the San Francisco 39-yard line. The 49ers defense stuffed Rams RB Steven Jackson for negative yards on three straight plays before forcing St. Louis to punt. The 49ers fielded the punt at the 11-yard line with 1:28 left to play. QB Trent Dilfer, who started the game in place of QB Alex Smith, completed four of five passes for 68 yards to drive the team to the St. Louis 21-yard line with six seconds to play. After stopping the clock with a spike, Dilfer's pass attempt to WR Darrell Jackson in the end zone was intercepted by the Rams at the final buzzer to seal the 13-9 win and send the 49ers to their eighth-straight loss. St. Louis opened the game with a nine-play, 79-yard drive that ended in a touchdown pass from QB Marc Bulger to WR Torry Holt for a quick 7-0 first quarter lead. CB Nate Clements took a handoff from WR Michael Lewis on a punt later in the first quarter and scrambled 41 yards on the reverse for a first down at the St. Louis 18-yard line to set up a 28-yard Nedney field goal for the 49ers first points of the game. The Rams took a 10-3 halftime lead after adding a second quarter field goal. The 49ers defense had four attempts to intercept the Rams in the first half. Three bounced in and out of the defenders hands, and one actual interception was negated by a penalty. After a scoreless third quarter, St. Louis PR Dante Hall had a 29-yard return to help position the Rams for a 35-yard field goal early in the fourth quarter for a 13-3 Rams lead. San Francisco responded on the ensuing drive, moving to the St. Louis 20-yard line where a 38-yard field goal by Nedney made it a 13-6 game with a little over six minutes to play. Before settling for the field goal, the 49ers tried to the tie the game with two pass attempts to the end zone. TE Vernon Davis and Jackson dropped tough potential touchdown catches from Dilfer on consecutive plays. The 49ers defense, which registered six sacks, held the Rams on three-straight plays to set up the 49ers two-minute comeback attempt.

Game 11
SAN FRANCISCO 37, ARIZONA 31 (overtime)
At Arizona, November 25, 2007

The San Francisco 49ers completed a series sweep of the Arizona Cardinals with a 37-31 overtime victory to snap an eight-game losing streak at the University of Phoenix Stadium. DE Ron Fields forced QB Kurt Warner to fumble on a sack in the end zone, and LB Tully Banta-Cain recovered the ball for a touchdown in overtime to seal the win. The play was set up after PK Neil Rackers missed a 32-yard field goal in overtime. Rackers was successful on a field goal from the San Francisco nine-yard line, but the Cardinals were penalized for a delay of game penalty, moving the ball back to the 14-yard line where Rackers was wide to the left. A 59-yard punt by P Andy Lee followed by an Arizona penalty forced the Cardinals to begin their next drive at the three-yard line, setting up the 49ers defensive touchdown to get the win. RB Frank Gore went over the 100-yard mark for the first time in 2007, finishing with 116 yards and two touchdowns, including a 35-yard touchdown run with 1:25 to play to give the 49ers a 31-28 lead. Gore also had a career day receiving with 11 catches for 98 yards. Warner, who passed for 484 yards, completed five passes on the ensuing drive to get Arizona to the one-yard line with six seconds to play. CB Donald Strickland broke up a pass in the end zone to force Arizona to settle for a 19-yard field goal as time expired in regulation to send the game into overtime. In overtime, Warner completed a short pass to WR Sean Morey, who raced down the sidelines for a 62-yard gain before LB Patrick Willis caught up with him to make a game-saving tackle at the 14-yard line. That set up Rackers game-winning field goal attempt. The 49ers had three first half turnovers with two CB Walt Harris interceptions and a strip by CB Nate Clements to lead to 14 points. San Francisco had a 17-7 lead and appeared to be in position to head into the half with a 17-14 lead after Harris' second interception gave the 49ers a first down at their own 41-yard line. QB Trent Dilfer moved the team inside Arizona territory to the 37-yard line with 11 seconds to go to set up a field goal attempt. PK Joe Nedney attempted a 55-yard field goal that went wide, leaving six seconds on the board for the Cardinals. Warner completed a short pass to the sideline and then with two seconds left completed a 48-yard Hail Mary pass to WR Larry Fitzgerald for a touchdown and a 21-17 halftime lead. A 57-yard touchdown pass from Dilfer to WR Arnaz Battle in the third quarter pushed the 49ers back in front, 24-21, heading into the final quarter. Cardinals backup QB Tim Rattay completed a two-yard touchdown pass on a fourth-down play midway in the fourth quarter to take a 28-24 lead. Gore's 35-yard touchdown with 1:25 recaptured the lead for San Francisco, but Rackers last second field goal sent the game to overtime.

Game 12
CAROLINA 31, SAN FRANCISCO 14
At Carolina, December 2, 2007

The Carolina Panthers converted six 49ers turnovers into 17 points in a 31-14 victory over the visiting San Francisco 49ers. After jumping to a 17-0 first half lead, the 49ers stormed back into the game with touchdown drives on their first two possessions in the second half to close to 17-14. The 49ers had the momentum and were in position to get the ball back after forcing the Panthers to punt from their own 30-yard line. WR Michael Lewis muffed a punt, and Carolina recovered at the San Francisco 11-yard line to set up a Carolina touchdown for a 24-14 lead. Carolina converted four third-downs to get in position for their final touchdown in the fourth quarter to seal the 31-14 win. Despite throwing two touchdown passes in the third quarter, QB Trent Dilfer was intercepted four times, including a second quarter pass that was returned 67 yards for a touchdown. Carolina sacked Dilfer six times, and limited the 49ers to just 12 first downs and 195 total yards of offense. Carolina took a 3-0 lead in the first quarter after a WR Arnaz Battle fumble allowed a drive to start at midfield. Carolina increased their lead to 10-0 with a 10-play, 80-yard drive that was capped by a QB Vinny Testaverde five-yard touchdown pass to TE Dante Rosario. Panthers CB Richard Marshall intercepted a Dilfer pass on the next series and returned it 67 yards for a score and a 17-0 lead. S Michael Lewis intercepted a Testaverde pass at the Carolina 38-yard line on the first series of the second half, and Dilfer took advantage of the key field position with a 20-yard touchdown pass to Battle to get the 49ers on the score board. San Francisco's defense stopped the Panthers on the next series, and a 41-yard punt return by CB Nate Clements gave the 49ers a first down at the Carolina 35-yard line. Two plays later, Dilfer fired a 21-yard touchdown pass to TE Delanie Walker to make it a three-point game at 17-14. The 49ers defense stopped Carolina on three straight plays on the ensuing drive, but the Lewis muffed punt set up a Carolina score and a ten-point Panthers lead. Rookie LB Patrick Willis followed a record-setting performance with 21 tackles at Arizona a week earlier with a team-leading 18 total tackles against the Panthers.

Game 13
MINNESOTA 27, SAN FRANCISCO 7
At San Francisco, December 9, 2007

The Minnesota Vikings jumped to a 27-0 halftime lead and held on for a 27-7 victory over the San Francisco 49ers at Monster Park. Turnovers once again plagued the 49ers with five giveaways (four fumbles and one interception) that resulted in 10 Minnesota points. After yielding 226 total yards in the first half, the 49ers defense held Minnesota to just 54 total yards and just six yards rushing in the final two quarters. Minnesota entered the game with the top ranked rushing attack in the NFL behind NFL-leader RB Adrian Peterson. The 49ers defense held Peterson to just three yards on 14 attempts. The game got off to an inauspicious start for San Francisco. On the first play from scrimmage TE Vernon Davis was called for a false start penalty. On the next play, DT Kevin Williams tipped and intercepted a QB Trent Dilfer pass and returned it 18 yards for a touchdown to take a quick 7-0 lead. The Vikings scored on four of their seven first half possessions to build their 27-0 halftime lead. Minnesota's big first half was aided by a RB Frank Gore fumble deep inside San Francisco territory that led to a field goal, and an 84-yard touchdown run by RB Chester Taylor. Two 55-yard kickoff returns by RB Maurice Hicks and a fumble recovery at the Minnesota 28-yard-line allowed the 49ers to start three first half drives inside Minnesota territory. Despite the good field position, the 49ers did not come away with any points. The 49ers had three drives into Minnesota territory in the second half that all resulted in turnovers. Dilfer took a shot to his head on a fourth-down attempt that was stopped short at the Minnesota nine-yard line with 29 seconds left to play in the first half and did not return to the game. QB Shaun Hill saw the first significant action of his six-year NFL career. Hill, who finished 22-of-28 for 180 yards, completed six-of-seven pass attempts on his first series and capped the drive with a five-yard touchdown pass to WR Arnaz Battle.

Game 14
SAN FRANCISCO 20, CINCINNATI 13
At San Francisco, December 15, 2007

The San Francisco 49ers pulled out a 20-13 victory over the Cincinnati Bengals in a Saturday Night nationally-televised game on NFL Network. QB Shaun Hill made his first NFL start and completed 21-of-28 pass attempts for 181 yards, including a three-yard touchdown run and a 17-yard touchdown pass to TE Vernon Davis. RB Frank Gore chalked up a season-high 138 yards rushing for a 4.8-yard average, and WR Darrell Jackson had his best game as a 49er with eight catches for 86 yards in an effective offensive attack. The 49ers got off to a 7-0 start after Hill led a 13-play, 76-yard drive that took 6:51 off the clock that he capped with a three-yard touchdown run early in the second quarter. Hill was seven-of-eight for 60 yards during that first scoring drive. Cincinnati answered with 10 points on their next two drives with a 24-yard field goal by PK Shayne Graham and a 52-yard touchdown pass from QB Carson Palmer to WR Chris Henry. San Francisco got the ball back with 4:38 to play in the first half and began at their own 24-yard line. A combination of timely passing by Hill and hard running by Gore pushed the 49ers to the Cincinnati 17-yard line with 14 seconds to go. Hill stood strong in the pocket and completed a 17-yard touchdown pass to Davis between the safeties to give the 49ers a 14-10 halftime lead. The 49ers took control of the game in the third quarter with two field goal drives, scoring on a 12-play, 61-yard drive that took 6:45 off the clock and an 11-play, 48-yard drive that took 6:09 off the clock. The Bengals added a field goal in the fourth quarter to close the lead to 20-13. It took a defensive effort to seal the 49ers 20-13 victory. The 49ers drove to the Cincinnati 24-yard line where they were faced with a fourth-and-two situation with 6:21 left in the game. The 49ers elected to go for the first down rather than a field goal and were stopped when Hill's pass to WR Jason Hill fell incomplete. Cincinnati took over and converted on fourth-and-five from the San Francisco 49-yard line with three minutes to play to keep a potential game-tying drive alive. The Bengals reached the 24-yard line before Palmer's fourth-down pass attempt to WR Chad Johnson in the end zone was ruled to have been caught out of bounds. Gore rumbled for a 10-yard gain for a key first down with under two minutes left to play, and the 49ers ran out the final seconds to seal the win.

Game 15
SAN FRANCISCO 21, TAMPA BAY 19
At San Francisco, December 23, 2007

San Francisco 49ers QB Shaun Hill completed three touchdown passes to lead the team to a 21-19 victory over the NFC South Champion Tampa Bay Buccaneers. The Buccaneers fell to a 1-11 record all-time against the 49ers in San Francisco. After taking a 21-13 lead in the fourth quarter, Tampa Bay backup QB Luke McCown engineered an eight-play, 61-yard drive that culminated with a 24-yard touchdown pass to TE Jerramy Stevens to get within a two-point conversion of tying the game with 1:31 left to play. McCown attempted a pass in the back of the end zone on the two-point play, but WR Michael Clayton could not get two feet in bounds. The 49ers ran out the final 1:20 to seal their second consecutive win. Rookie LB Patrick Willis helped the defense hold the Buccaneers 10th ranked rushing attack to just a 2.8-yard average with 20 total tackles, two sacks and a forced fumble. After falling behind 6-0 in the first quarter, a 20-yard run by RB Frank Gore helped the 49ers get into Tampa Bay territory. Hill finished the 72-yard drive with a 21-yard touchdown pass to WR Darrell Jackson on the first play of the second quarter to give the 49ers a 7-6 lead. Tampa Bay capitalized on a fumble that was recovered at the San Francisco 36-yard line later in the second quarter, setting up a 24-yard touchdown pass from QB Jeff Garcia to Stevens for a 13-7 halftime lead. Both of the 49ers second half touchdowns were set up by turnovers. Willis forced McCown to fumble on a one-yard sack in the third quarter, allowing S Mark Roman to recover for the 49ers at the Tampa Bay 14-yard line. On the second play of that series, Hill took a shot to the ribs and was forced to leave for a play. On his first play back, he fired a five-yard touchdown pass to TE Vernon Davis to give San Francisco a 14-13 advantage. CB Nate Clements intercepted a McCown pass early in the fourth quarter and had a career-long return of 62 yards to the Tampa Bay 18-yard line. On the 49ers first play from scrimmage, Hill completed a short pass in the right flat to Gore, who raced into the end zone for a 23-yard touchdown and a 21-13 lead. Gore finished the game with 89 yards on 21 carries to go over the 1,000-yard mark for the second consecutive season. Gore became just the fifth 49ers running back to ever have back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons.

Game 16
CLEVELAND 20, SAN FRANCISCO 7
At Cleveland, December 30, 2007

The San Francisco 49ers finished the 2007 season with a 5-11 record following a 20-7 loss to the Cleveland Browns. QB Chris Weinke, who was signed to the 49ers for the final three games, was forced to start due to a back injury to QB Shaun Hill. Working on a limited playbook, Weinke completed 13-of-22 passes for 104 yards. Pro Bowl PR Joshua Cribbs gave the Browns a 7-0 first quarter lead after scoring on a 76-yard punt return against the 49ers top-ranked punt coverage unit. Cleveland jumped to a 14-0 lead early in the second quarter when QB Derek Anderson hooked up with WR Braylon Edwards on a 45-yard touchdown pass. Weinke converted a key third-down pass to TE Delanie Walker on a third-and-eight play. A 10-yard roughing the passer penalty on the same play gave the 49ers a first down at the Cleveland 10-yard line. Two plays later, Weinke connected with WR Darrell Jackson for a seven-yard score to cut the Browns lead to 14-7. On the ensuing drive, rookie QB Brady Quinn was forced into action after Anderson took a hit to his hand. Quinn orchestrated an 11-play, 57-yard drive that resulted in a 23-yard field goal for a 17-7 halftime lead. Anderson returned in the second half, but Cleveland's only score was a 49-yard field goal by PK Phil Dawson in the fourth quarter. The 49ers were held to just nine first downs and 185 total yards, including just two first downs and 41 yards in the second half. RB Frank Gore gained 94 yards rushing to finish the season with 1,102 yards. Rookie LB Patrick Willis led the team with 12 total tackles to finish with an unofficial NFL record 222 total tackles. The old record for tackles in a season was 214 by LB Hardy Nickerson in 1993 with Tampa Bay. P Andy Lee landed four punts inside the 20-yard line to establish an NFL record with 42 punts inside the 20. Lee also finished the season with a 41.0 net average, to become the first punter to finish with a net over 40.

SAN FRANCISCO 49ERS FOUNDER

Anthony J. (Tony) Morabito

Tony Morabito dedicated his life to bringing an idea to fruition that others thought preposterous – the membership of the West Coast, in general, and San Francisco, in particular, in a nation-wide professional football league.

Morabito was the sports pioneer of the West, bringing San Francisco its first major league professional team, the San Francisco 49ers, in a professional sports business that was dominated by the East Coast. Before World War II, Morabito was convinced the San Francisco Bay Area was ready for a franchise in the National Football League. The Bay Area was a mecca for college football. Fans came in droves to Kezar Stadium to see the Wonder Teams of California-Berkeley and the Wow Boys of Stanford, led by Frankie Albert. St. Mary's, Santa Clara and the University of San Francisco were also area powerhouses that regularly defeated the University of Washington and Southern California inside the walls of Kezar.

Morabito saw the rise of football in the area and presented a case to birth a professional football team in 1942 to National Football League officials, but was quickly ushered out of the meeting room with firm politeness. In the spring of 1944, he took another crack, filing an application for an expansion team in the NFL. Morabito and some of his business associates went to Chicago to present their plan in front of League Commissioner, Elmer Layden. The NFL had no teams west of Chicago, and had no plans of changing their geographical structure. Morabito was again shunned.

He was then put in touch with Arch Ward, sports editor of The Chicago Tribune who was trying to organize a rival league, the All-America Football Conference. Morabito told Ward to count him in.

The new league's first meeting was held on June 6, 1944 in St. Louis, D-Day in Europe. Morabito agreed to form a San Francisco franchise in a league which would not begin operations until the end of the war.

It was the right time, and Morabito knew it.

A native of San Francisco, Morabito learned the game of football on vacant lots in the North Beach sector and had some success later as a halfback at St. Ignatius High School. He went on to play for the University of Santa Clara as a freshman in 1927 but his playing career was ended shortly after by a shoulder injury. He received his diploma in 1931 in the height of the Great Depression. He got a job driving a truck for $80 a month while his father, an immigrant from Italy, had built up a flourishing ship's service business on the San Francisco waterfront, only to see it fold in the wake of the depression years.

But as the country's economic state began to improve, so did Morabito's. By 1940, when he was 30 years old, he became a success in the lumber carrier business. The army turned him down for duty in 1942 because of partial deafness, which later forced him to wear a hearing aid.

By 1946, the San Francisco 49ers first year of operation, the Bay Area was in the middle of a postwar economic surge. Morabito's lumber yard was in huge demand as houses were springing up to shelter the fast-growing population that was migrating to California.

Morabito owned the new All-America Football Conference franchise with his partners in the Lumber Terminals of San Francisco – Allen E. Sorrell and E.J. Turre – and his younger brother, Victor.

Sorell suggested the team be named "49ers" after the voyagers who had rushed the West for gold. It is the only name the team has ever been affiliated with and San Francisco is the only city in which it has resided. The original team logo depicted San Francisco's wild beginnings. It was a goldminer in boots and a lumberjack shirt, firing a pair of pistols. One shot just missed the miner's head, while the other missed his foot. The logo was taken from a design seen on the side of railway freight cars.

With a charter, name and logo, the group recruited Lawrence "Buck" Shaw, Santa Clara's famous "Silver Fox," as the 49ers first head coach. The organization spent $250,000 to get structured before the team even took their first snap. Morabito's approach was considered "first class," by most, and a financial risk by many.

But Morabito charged on, hand-picking an inaugural roster that was comprised of 32 players including Frankie Albert, Norm Standlee and Bruno Banducci, all from Stanford, and stars from Santa Clara, including Alyn Beals, an end who scored 46 pro touchdowns in four years. Other known players on the roster were Len Eshmont, Johnny "Johnny Strike" Strzykalski and Joe "The Toe" Ventrano.

Morabito watched as his 49ers played their first game on August 24, 1946, a 17-7 exhibition win over the Los Angeles Dons at Balboa Park in San Diego. The 49ers first home game was played at Kezar Stadium on September 1, 1946, a 34-14 exhibition win over the Chicago Rockets in front of 45,000 fans made up of longshoremen, draymen, mechanics and waterfront workers.

49ers Founder, Tony Morabito

The first regular season league game was on September 8, 1946 against the New York Yankees. The 49ers scored first, but lost 21-7 in a game that began in sunshine and ended in the famous Kezar fog.

The 49ers finished 9-5 in their first season under Shaw, and went on to have an 8-4-2 record in 1947, 12-2 finish in 1948 and 10-4 record, including a trip to the Championship Game, in their final season in the AAFC.

At the end of 1949, it was announced that the AAFC had run its course. San Francisco, Cleveland and Baltimore received NFL franchises and would begin play in the NFL in 1950. The merger was what Morabito had hoped for all along as he, his brother Victor and general manager Lou Spadia, continued to hold the reins.

The 49ers struggled during their first season among the NFL elite, finishing with a 3-9 record. The following year though, the 49ers went 7-4-1.

As the seasons went on, Morabito was the heart and soul of the organization, signing on greats like The Million Dollar Backfield: Joe "The Jet" Perry, Hugh "The King" McElhenny and John Henry Johnson. He also attracted some of the NFL's most renowned talents in R.C. Owens, Bob St. Clair, Leo Nomellini, John Brodie and Y.A. Tittle.

The players appreciated his honesty, and trusted his every move and word.

As the 1950's progressed, Morabito was warned by his doctors that a bad heart and the rigors of football were not a healthy combination. But Morabito wasn't going to let a health scare get in the way of continuing with his passion. "What the hell, if I'm going to die, I might as well die at a football game," he said.

On October 27, 1957, the 49ers hosted the Chicago Bears at Kezar. The 49ers entered the game with a 3-1 record behind the talents of Owens, Perry, Tittle, McElhenny, Billy Wilson, and others. The Bears had a 14-0 advantage in the first quarter before the 49ers scored to close the deficit at 14-7. Just as the 49ers lined up for the next kickoff, Morabito, who was sitting next to his wife, Josephine, and his brother, Victor, in the guest box, suddenly collapsed. The great heart that had been with the 49ers since the franchise's inception had failed.

Father Bill McGuire of St. James parish was summoned to the guest box and pronounced Morabito his final absolution. Morabito looked up at him and smiled.

"Thank you father," he said.

Those were his last words.

The 49ers were behind 17-7 in the third quarter when the team learned of Morabito's death. His players rallied and came back to defeat Chicago, 21-17, in an emotional last win for their owner. The 49ers finished the season with three straight victories and an 8-4 record, tying Detroit for the NFL Western Division title.

Victor, Tony's younger brother, kept the team in the family until 1964, when he too died of a heart attack. Both Victor and Tony's wives, Jane and Josephine, retained control of the 49ers with Lou Spadia as team president until 1977, when a new team owner, Edward DeBartolo Jr. of Youngstown, Ohio emerged to buy the franchise.

Morabito's conviction, passion and character birthed and kept an NFL franchise in San Francisco, and laid the sturdy foundation that has enabled the 49ers to become one of the NFL's premier football powers over the past 60 years.

Tony Morabito's widow, Josephine (left), and Victor Morabito's widow, Jane (right), kept control of the 49ers after their husbands' passing along with team president Lou Spadia (middle).

BOBB MCKITTRICK AWARD

This award is given annually to the 49ers offensive lineman who best exemplifies the dedication, excellence and committment of offensive line coach Bobb McKittrick, a five-time Super Bowl Champion.

In 1999, the San Francisco 49ers, under the direction of Bill Walsh, established the Bobb McKittrick Award. The award is meant to honor those offensive linemen who have best represented the courage, intensity and sacrifice displayed by the late Coach McKittrick during his 21 years of service with the 49ers.

"Bobb gave distinguished service to the organization since our renaissance in 1979. He was a vital factor in five Super Bowl Championships, the evolution of a dynasty and in the production of some of the finest offensive linemen in football. Offensive linemen don't receive the recognition they so richly deserve. This gives us a venue to honor their sacrifices and achievements," Walsh said.

A bronze plaque of McKittrick hangs in the 49ers locker room surrounded by the photographs of the McKittrick Award winners.

ED BLOCK COURAGE AWARD

The Ed Block Courage Award is named after Ed Block, the former head athletic trainer of the Baltimore Colts of 23 years. Block was a pioneer in his profession and a respected humanitarian whose most passionate cause was helping children of abuse. The award is presented in his name each year to the player that exemplified a commitment to sportsmanship and courage. Ed Block Courage Award winners from each of the 32 NFL teams are honored at a banquet in Baltimore, MD. All proceeds from the event benefit the Ed Block Courage Award Foundation's Courage House National Support Network. Named after the NFL team in a respective NFL city, a Courage House is a facility that provides support and quality care for abused children and their families in that community. The 49ers dedicated their Courage House in October 2003 at the Edgewood House in San Francisco.

49ERS IN THE HALL OF FAME

Leo Nomellini

1969-DT Leo Nomellini (1950-63). Was the first ever draft choice after the 49ers joined the NFL. Played every 49ers game for 14 seasons. Altogether he played in 174 consecutive regular season games, including 10 trips to the Pro Bowl, and played in 266 contests. "The Lion" became one of the few to be named to an All-NFL team on both offense and defense. Retired at age 39. Played college ball at the University of Minnesota. Born June 19, 1924 in Lucca, Italy.

Joe Perry

1969-FB Joe Perry (1948-60, 63). First player in NFL history to gain 1,000 yards two consecutive seasons. His 9,723 rushing yards placed him second only to Jim Brown when he retired. Finished career with 12,505 combined yards. Nicknamed "The Jet" because of his quick starts. Also played for the Baltimore Colts (1961-62). Attended Compton Junior College. Born January 22, 1927 in Stevens, AR.

SAN FRANCISCO'S WINNING TRADITION

For two decades (1980-99), the San Francisco 49ers established themselves as the NFL's most dominant franchise. The 49ers won more Super Bowls, posted more winning seasons, claimed more divisional titles and made more playoff appearances than any team in the league over that 20-year stretch.

Since the DeBartolo Corporation purchased the team in 1977, the 49ers made one of the most dramatic turnarounds in sports history, rebounding from back-to-back 2-14 seasons in 1978-79 to Super Bowl Champions in 1981. The 49ers unparalleled success continued into the '90s, winning their fifth Super Bowl in 1994, becoming the first team in NFL history to win five Super Bowl titles.

MARIE P. DEBARTOLO SPORTS CENTRE

In loving memory of their mother, Marie P. DeBartolo, San Francisco 49ers Owner Denise DeBartolo York and her brother, Edward J. DeBartolo Jr., dedicated the team's training facility and office complex to her in August of 1988.

Situated on an 11-acre site in Santa Clara, CA (approximately 40 miles south of Candlestick Park), the complex provides players, coaches and staff with all the necessary components for daily practices, weekly game preparations and general overall operations in one functional, state-of-the-art setting.

From its master blueprint to the smallest of details, the facility exemplifies the DeBartolos' strive for perfection and drive for superiority. It also reflects their dedication to the organization and first-class standard for operating procedures.

Two natural grass practice fields with underground drainage and watering systems allow for workouts in all Northern California weather conditions. A synthetic turf practice field from Sportexe was installed in 2006 to maximize the team's versatility and safety on different playing surfaces. The field turf also enables the 49ers to make a smooth transition for practice if the natural grass becomes unusable due to inclement weather.

A two-story, 52,000 square foot building (more than three times the space the 49ers had at their previous location in Redwood City) houses all administrative and coaching offices with the exception of the ticket office and stadium operations.

The ground floor contains a spacious locker room area with 60 permanent lockers and allocations for extra (portable) lockers to be used during mini-camps and training camp when squads are larger.

A well-equipped weight room and training area downstairs accommodates both preventative and rehabilitative conditioning. A 30-by-40-foot hydro-therapy indoor swimming pool is also available.

Also located downstairs are numerous meeting rooms, each featuring a digital projection unit, allowing players and coaches the opportunity to analyze previous games, practice sessions and upcoming opponents.

Media facilities including a 120-seat auditorium and conference room (wired for live television broadcasts from the site), make the set-up ideally suited for weekly press conference coverage and daily reporting duties. Located just outside the weight room is a canopied patio area used for team meals, press luncheons and other team-related activities.

ANDY DOLICH
CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER

As Chief Operating Officer of the 49ers, Andy Dolich is responsible for day-to-day business operations of the franchise, including sales, marketing, public relations, corporate partnerships and facilities. Dolich also plays a major role in the team's efforts to build a new state-of-the-art stadium in the Bay Area for its fans.

Dolich joins the 49ers with over three decades of experience in the professional sports industry, including executive positions in the National Basketball Association (NBA), National Hockey League (NHL) and Major League Baseball (MLB).

"The opportunity to come home and work for the preeminent franchise in Northern California is the opportunity of a lifetime," Dolich said.

The longtime executive said the rich history of the team, an incredibly loyal fan base, the opportunity to build a new stadium and the positive direction of the franchise made the decision to join the team a simple one.

"In my discussion with John and Jed York and the 49ers' executive management, it was clear that the organization has goals and objectives necessary for success," Dolich said.

Dolich likened building a successful business operation to putting together a championship team; know your playbook/market and be passionate about your performance.

"Northern California and the San Francisco Bay Area is a unique marketplace," Dolich said. "I think it is critical to have individuals in your organization that understand the rhythms of this market. Fans here have many different sports and lifestyle choices. With the Niners, you have a fan base that has the team in their DNA."

Dolich stressed the fan experience as the most important aspect of his job.

"We will work diligently to provide a seamless, positive experience when they see the teams play," Dolich said. "From the moment someone thinks about coming to a Niners game, to the time that they are back home, you want them to be treated to the most professional, positive, safe and economically viable experience that they can have."

Most recently, Dolich served as President of Business Operations for the Memphis Grizzlies (NBA), where he was responsible for the day-to-day functioning of the team's business and marketing programs, as well as the construction and operation of the team's home arena, FedExForum.

Prior to joining the Grizzlies, Dolich was Executive Vice President of Tickets.com. There, he was responsible for developing and implementing the company's multi-regional marketing and sales strategies. He also headed a sports business development consulting group with clients including Nike, the U.S. World Cup, and the Stanford and UC Berkeley's Athletic Departments.

Previously, Dolich was President/Chief Operating Officer of the Golden State Warriors (NBA), where he was responsible for the team's day-to-day business operations and transitioned the Warriors' management team to new ownership.

Dolich is credited as being a driving force behind the marketing resurgence of the Oakland Athletics (MLB) in the 1980s and early 1990s. He helped change the face of sports team advertising through the award-winning "Billy-Ball" campaign. During that time, Dolich's marketing team increased A's attendance from 800,000 to 2.9 million.

Before joining the Athletics, Dolich held executive-level positions with the Washington Diplomats (North American Soccer League) and the Washington Capitals (NHL). He began his career with positions at the Maryland Arrows (National Lacrosse League) and the Philadelphia 76ers (NBA).

Dolich received his undergraduate degree in Government from American University in Washington, DC, and his Masters in Sport Management from Ohio University. He serves on a number of sports industry and community-invested boards and organizations.

MURLAN FOWELL
VICE PRESIDENT OF OPERATIONS

With his extensive knowledge of business management, Mo Fowell enters his 23rd year with the 49ers and his fifth as Vice President of Operations. Prior to his promotion, Fowell served as the Director of Stadium Operations for the 49ers for 15 years. He initially began with the 49ers in 1986 as the team's Luxury Suite Manager.

In his present role, Fowell splits his time between the 49ers two facilities – Candlestick Park in San Francisco and the practice facility in Santa Clara. He is responsible for the supervision of stadium operations and the practice facility, where he oversees security, field maintenance, building maintenance, front office management and all other aspects relating to the facility.

One of the major undertakings Fowell was responsible for in his stadium supervision was coordinating the $30 million renovation of Candlestick Park in 1986. Part of that task included the implementation of the luxury suite sales and marketing program.

And in early 2007, Fowell was part of the 49ers management team that negotiated $10.3 million in repairs to Monster Park that restored escalators, elevators and restrooms, while also refurbishing the existing parking lot.

In 2005, Fowell was instrumental in the logistical planning of the 49ers intricate three-day road trip to Mexico City to play the Arizona Cardinals. The historical match up marked the first regular season NFL game played outside of the United States, drawing over 103,000 fans at Estadio Azteca.

A charter member of the Stadium Managers Association (SMA), Fowell was also a member of the NFL Task Force on Security, which was established after the events of September 11, 2001.

Before joining the 49ers, Fowell spent 15 years in the restaurant industry, compiling an impressive resume and honing his managerial skills. For three years, he worked as Vice President of Operations for Ole International Foods (1983-86) and was responsible for operating three full service restaurants in Boise, ID, and Lewiston, ID. From 1980-82, he worked as a District Supervisor for El Torito Restaurants, Inc., and oversaw the company's regional expansion into the Northwestern United States.

Fowell attended the University of Wyoming and Montana State, and majored in business administration.

Born in Billings, MT, Fowell and his wife, Cheryl, reside in Half Moon Bay, CA.

ELISABETH LANG
VICE PRESIDENT OF COMMUNICATIONS

Elisabeth (Lisa) Lang enters her fourth season as the 49ers Vice President of Communications.

Lang oversees a number of functions at the 49ers, including public relations, community outreach, employee communications and the 49ers Foundation. She is responsible for overall communication planning to strengthen relationships with the community, fans, season ticket holders, corporate sponsors, government officials and employees. Lang also handles media relations for business and community issues, is a member of the team's new stadium planning group, serves as the club's spokesperson on business issues and is the liaison to the 49ers Community Advisory Panel.

Since joining the 49ers on November 1, 2005, Lang has spearheaded a number of community programs, including the team's award winning "Respect" campaign to inspire youth to demonstrate respect for their families, schools and their communities. The 49ers players, coaches and staff participated in 170 community activities throughout the 2007 season, donating 3,500 hours of volunteer time towards the "Respect" initiative.

She has also helped sharpen the focus of the 49ers Foundation by concentrating its efforts on keeping San Francisco Bay Area youth safe, on-track and in school. This past season the Foundation distributed more than $1.5 million to non-profit organizations throughout the San Francisco Bay Area.

Lang recently won the 2007 San Jose Business Journal's Woman of Distinction Award. She serves on the Board of the Mission City Community Fund in Santa Clara and is a member of the Bay Area Council.

Lang joined the 49ers with over 20 years of experience in organizational and marketing communications for major brands. She has held top communications jobs in the consumer software, telecommunications and publishing industries. Most recently, she was Vice President of Corporate and Marketing Communications at Intuit, the Mountain View, CA-based makers of Quicken and Turbo Tax software. During her five years with Intuit, she oversaw the successful launch of dozens of consumer and small business products, led the effort to establish the company's privacy policies, created a brand strategy and helped establish the Intuit Foundation and employee giving programs.

Lang also had a 13-year career at Pacific Bell (now known as AT&T), where she quickly rose through the ranks from staff manager to Vice President of Corporate Communications for the Pacific Telesis Corporation. She oversaw a department of 85 communications professionals and the launch of new lines of business, including voice mail, Internet services and cellular phones. She also unveiled Pacific Bell's partnership with the San Francisco Giants for the new ballpark.

Prior to joining Pacific Bell, Lang handled a variety of promotional responsibilities as Director of Public Relations for Ms. Magazine in New York City. Lang is a graduate of The Ohio State University. She resides on the Peninsula with her husband and two children.

LARRY MACNEIL
VICE PRESIDENT/CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

With more than 20 years of experience in finance and accounting, Larry MacNeil is in his sixth year as Vice President and Chief Financial Officer for the 49ers.

He is responsible for the management of the team's business office, budgeting, forecasts, financial reporting, internal controls, partnership tax matters and cash management. MacNeil also works closely with the team's football operations staff on salary cap issues and contract matters.

MacNeil's record as a financial leader and problem solver is extensive. After beginning his career in public accounting, MacNeil spent 12 years as a partner with a management consulting firm, delivering financial expertise to a broad range of companies across the country. Over the course of his career, MacNeil has worked with clients in commercial banking, real estate development and management, insurance, investment banking and transportation. MacNeil is a seasoned negotiator, having executed more than $2 billion in acquisitions, sales and financing transactions.

MacNeil served for 12 years as a Senior Partner with National Advisors, a San Diego based management consulting firm (1988-00). MacNeil began his career with Kenneth Leventhal & Company, CPAs in Southern California, supervising audit and consulting engagements (1984-88).

He earned his bachelor's degree in accounting from the University of Kansas and is a licensed CPA in California.

KEENA TURNER
VICE PRESIDENT OF FOOTBALL AFFAIRS

With extensive experience as a player, coach, commentator and long-time administrator, Keena Turner enters his first season as the 49ers Vice President of Football Affairs after spending nearly three decades in different capacities for the organization.

An 11-year NFL veteran and former Pro Bowler, Turner played his entire career for the 49ers (1980-90). He went on to become one of the all-time great 49ers linebackers and earned four Super Bowl Championships with the team after originally being selected in the second round of the 1980 NFL Draft out of Purdue.

In his new role, Turner is in charge of all programs related to player well-being and success, which includes counseling, faith-based and player development programs. He also serves as an advisor to the coaching staff to help players reach their full potential both on and off the field.

Turner also is responsible for the 49ers Alumni Relations program, in addition to serving as the gatekeeper and advisor for all current player involvement in marketing, foundation and community outreach activities.

"What's exciting about my new role is the opportunity to work with Head Coach Mike Nolan, the coaching staff and various departments within the building as it relates to the player environment," said Turner. "Having played the game myself, I think it's important to have someone in this role who understands the players' commitment and responsibilities. I'm eager to offer another resource to the players and the organization as a whole."

Although Turner's playing career ended in 1990, he never really left the 49ers family. The year following his retirement from football, Turner kept his association with the 49ers, working in the player and community relations departments. In 1992, he joined former coach and mentor, Bill Walsh, at Stanford University. He served as the linebackers coach for the Cardinal for three seasons.

Upon leaving Stanford, Turner embarked on his radio and television career, while also working in community relations for DeBartolo Entertainment. He went on to serve as a color analyst for 49ers' preseason games for 13 years (1995-2007) and was a co-host for the 49ers Preview Show. He also was the radio/TV color analyst for the San Jose SaberCats for 14 seasons.

In July of 1998, Turner returned to the 49ers and worked in the player relations department. In 2001, he was promoted to player development director and added alumni responsibilities in 2003. The following year, Turner focused his efforts solely on the alumni, serving as an alumni coordinator from 2004 to 2005 before being appointed as the director of alumni coordinators in 2006, where he remained until his promotion to vice president of football affairs.

In 2000, Turner and former 49ers teammate Ronnie Lott opened a Toyota dealership in Tracy – Tracy Toyota. In his role as general manager, Turner oversaw the day-to-day business operations of the dealership for over five years. He still remains part owner of the dealership.

Turner is a native of Chicago, IL, and attended Chicago Vocational High School – the same school that produced former Chicago Bears' linebacker Dick Butkus. Turner and his wife, Linda, have three children and reside in Tracy, CA.

SAN FRANCISCO 49ERS IN THE COMMUNITY

Throughout the 49ers 60-plus year history, the Club has shared a commitment to its faithful fans and the community.

As such, the 49ers took a stand in the community advocating the value of respect through a new outreach campaign created to target youth in the Bay Area.

The Respect Campaign leverages the power of the 49ers brand, its player and coaches to share the importance of respect and its central role in helping young people become good community citizens.

As part of the campaign, members of the 49ers organization take part in a variety of community events to reach out to youth and impart the value of respect in three important areas of their lives: families, schools and communities.

Making an Impact through Community Outreach

Each year, the 49ers players, coaches and staff participate in more than 170 community activities and events, contributing more than 3,500 hours of volunteer time in the San Francisco Bay Area. Each year, more than 327,000 people are impacted by the 49ers community outreach efforts, including more than 38,000 children.

Through the leadership of 49ers team Owners Denise and John York, the 49ers Foundation has donated more than $5.5 million over the last five years to non-profits throughout the San Francisco Bay Area.

SAN FRANCISCO 49ERS FOUNDATION

The San Francisco 49ers Foundation, founded in 1991, is the non-profit community funding arm of the San Francisco 49ers. The 49ers Foundation supports development programs for underserved youth that keep them safe, on track and in school. A significant portion of its funding goes toward family violence prevention programs and activities that teach youth leadership and respect.

SIGNATURE FUNDRAISING PROGRAMS

Hedge Funds Cares

Hedge Funds Cares is an industry alliance formed in 1998 with the sole mission of raising funds to support the prevention and treatment of child abuse and neglect. To date, Hedge Funds Cares has raised $27 million nationally.

The San Francisco 49ers Foundation partners annually with Hedge Funds Cares to host the West Coast Open Your Heart to the Children Benefit to raise funds to support community-based non-profits that have services focused on the prevention and treatment of child abuse and neglect. Each year, the event raises more than $800,000 to support non-profits.

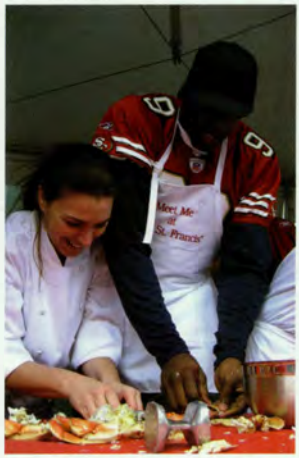
Celebrity Winter & Wine Fest

Since it's inception in 2001, the 49ers Foundation Celebrity Winter & Wine Fest is one of the premier fundraising events for the 49ers Foundation. Squaw Valley comes alive during the three-day event that includes a ski race between Olympians and attendees, 49ers Coaching Chalk Talks, mingling with the coaches, players, ownership and alumni, silent and live auctions, cooking demonstrations, live music and great wine and food. Corporations and individuals are able to purchase sponsorship packages to participate in the festivities. Since 2001, this exclusive event has raised more than $4.3 million for the 49ers Foundation.

Cadence Stars & Strikes

The Stars & Strikes bowling tournament is one of the largest community events of its kind in Silicon Valley. The annual fundraising effort between the 49ers Foundation and Cadence Design Systems, Inc., the world's leading electronic design software provider, raises funds to support charitable causes in the Bay Area community. The 49ers lend their star power by involving current and former players. Since its inception in 1990, Stars & Strikes has raised more than $10 million to support Silicon Valley nonprofit organizations meeting critical community needs, including the Fisher House Foundation, Children's Discovery Museum, and the San Jose Conservation Corps and the Bill Wilson Center.

Celebrity Crab Cracking on Union Square



Once a year, San Francisco celebrates its beloved icon from the sea, the Dungeness crab, with the Celebrity Crab Cracking event in Union Square. As part of the event, the 49ers Foundation, along with members of the 49ers, team up with local chefs to demonstrate the art and intricacies of cracking a crab. Demonstrations are followed by a timed cracking and cleaning contest with local San Francisco celebrities. Food, wine and beer are available. All proceeds from the event benefit the 49ers Foundation.

Pasta Bowl

The San Francisco 49ers, in partnership with the Silicon Valley Leadership Group, host the annual "Pasta Bowl," a family-style dinner event that takes place during training camp each summer. The entire 49ers team and top Silicon Valley CEOs serve as celebrity waiters and dinner guests for each of the sponsored tables, providing a unique opportunity for corporations and the community. In addition, executives have the opportunity to pair up with the 49ers player to serve the four-course meal to their table as a team. The event also includes a premier wine tasting reception, exclusive silent auction, youth activities and entertainment. The proceeds from the event benefit the 49ers Foundation.

COMMUNITY RELATIONS

RESPECT FOR FAMILIES

Respect Rim

In 2006, the team began the sale of the Respect Rim baseball cap. One-hundred percent of the proceeds from the sale of the Respect Rim go to the 49ers Foundation in support of the San Francisco Domestic Violence Consortium and Partners Ending Domestic Abuse, which is dedicated to eliminating domestic violence and ensuring the basic rights of safety, self-determination and well-being to victims and survivors of domestic violence and their children. Tens of thousands of dollars have been raised to support the cause since 2006.

Founding Fathers

The Club partners with the Family Violence Prevention Fund to distribute Founding Fathers pledge cards to adult fans. By signing the Founding Fathers Declaration, men join in a public statement to call for an end to violence against women and children. Each time a man signs the declaration they make a financial contribution to support the violence prevention efforts as part of the Family Violence Prevention Fund's Campaign for the Next Generation.

Holiday Giving

During the holiday season, 49ers players and significant others, alumni and staff come together to deliver food and holiday trimmings to families in need throughout the Bay Area. Partnering with the San Francisco Food Bank, Turning Wheels for Kids and City Team Ministries, the 49ers are able to make the holidays a little brighter.

RESPECT FOR SCHOOLS

"Seeing Both Sides"

In partnership with the San Francisco Education Fund Peer Resources Program, the 49ers created an educational, in-school video to encourage students to show respect for themselves and others by resisting violence as a means to resolve conflict. Titled "Seeing Both Sides," the DVD features 49ers players and students from the Peer Resources Program discussing issues that surround conflict resolution. As part of the program students who view "Seeing Both Sides" are asked to create a poster and accompanying paragraph that relate to the theme of the video. More than 14,000 students participated in this initiative.

Safety in Schools

Part of providing a safe school environment for children is making sure that students both arrive and depart schools in a safe fashion. The Club promotes America's Safe Schools Week through its Safety Walk crossing guard effort and Safe Halloween activities.

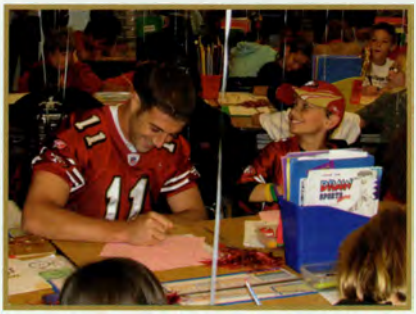
49ers Academy

Since opening in 1996, the 49ers Academy in East Palo Alto has received ongoing support from the 49ers organization. The school serves 6th, 7th and 8th grade students who benefit from a small, nurturing and personalized environment. The 49ers Academy provides a caring community where the emphasis is on one-on-one relationships to promote academic success in children who have struggled in other school systems.

RESPECT FOR COMMUNITIES

Community Tuesdays

Every Tuesday during the football season, 49ers players participate in community activities to demonstrate respect for our community, schools and families. Community Tuesdays are designed to raise awareness of the charitable activities of 49ers players, while highlighting the services and support provided by non-profit organizations in the San Francisco Bay Area. These activities range from school and hospital visits to neighborhood beautification projects and holiday giving.



49ers Fitness Zones

The goal of 49ers Fitness Zones is to promote the importance of youth fitness. In partnership with the Good Tidings Foundation, who manage renovations, Kelly-Moore Paints, who provides all materials to paint, and Pacific Athletic Club, who donate the sports equipment, the 49ers create 49ers Fitness Zones around the San Francisco Bay Area. Community volunteers, 49ers players and staff work together, in a hands-on way, to create areas where youth learn about and practice fitness.

Hometown Huddle

Hometown Huddle is a partnership between all 32 NFL teams and the United Way. Each year, the 32 teams work with a local United Way agency on a select day to participate in a community service project. Past 49ers Hometown Huddle activities have included 49ers players painting over graffiti in San Francisco's historic Chinatown district, refurbishing the ropes course area at Camp Arroyo, installing playground equipment at local parks and beautifying Bay Area schools and recreation centers.

Red and Gold Community Program

For the fourth year, the San Francisco 49ers offer the Red and Gold community program. This opportunity is open to organizations that provide positive alternatives for at-risk youth in the San Francisco Bay Area. Non-profit organizations apply to receive up to 40 free tickets for their organization to attend a 49ers preseason or regular season home game.

Bayview/Hunters Point YMCA

The Bayview/Hunters Point YMCA is supported by the entire 49ers organization from the top down. Ownership, players, alumni, coaches and staff frequently visit the center, donate tickets to the youth and financially support the YMCA's programs. Most recently, the 49ers Foundation pledged $250,000 over a five-year period to assist with the overall renovation of their newly acquired facility on Lane Street.

Hunters Point Boys & Girls Club

The establishment of the new Bayview/Hunter's Point Boys & Girls Club on Hunter's Point Hill is a true city-wide partnership that involves branches of government, including the Mayor's Office, the City Attorney and the San Francisco Police Department, and both San Francisco sports franchises, the 49ers and the Giants. The new facility has significantly expanded recreational opportunities for youth in one of the most underserved neighborhoods in the Bay Area.

49ers Half Time Shows (September through December)

Throughout the regular season the 49ers hold a series of community-related half time shows. Some of the events celebrate the diverse culture of the Bay Area, while others promote youth football and raise awareness of social issues such as domestic violence.

49ers Stadium Drives

(September through December)

Throughout the regular season, the Club requests fans and game attendees to make generous contributions of items such as clothing, food, toys, books and cell phones. These gameday collection drives benefit deserving charitable organizations in the Bay Area such as Second Harvest Food Bank of Santa Clara and San Mateo, San Francisco Food Bank, Operation Dream, Silicon Valley Boys & Girls Club, One Warm Coat and Resource Area for Teaching.

For more information about the 49ers activities in the community, please contact the San Francisco 49ers Community Relations Department at 408.562.4949, send an email to sfcommunityrelations@niners.nfl.net or visit us online at 49ers.com.

Youth football programs teach kids the importance of respect, teamwork, goal-setting and how to live a healthy lifestyle in a fun, safe and educational environment.

49ers Gatorade Junior Training Camp

The 49ers hold free football camps throughout the season and off-season. The 49ers Gatorade Jr. Training Camps offer children the opportunity to learn football skills, such as passing, tackling and ball-carrying, while also learning about proper hydration.

49ers Youth Football Camp

The Club conducts one three-day camp during the summer to teach youth the fundamentals of football. Boys and girls ages 7-14 are eligible to participate. The 49ers Camp is a non-contact camp designed to improve a child's beginning, intermediate or advanced skill level. Fundamentals of all positions on offense and defense are taught in addition to life skills, such as respect, responsibility, sportsmanship, teamwork and the importance of education. Participants are grouped based on age and skill level.

49ers Offensive/Defensive Line Camp

Open to high school students grades 9-12, the 49ers Offensive/Defensive Line Camp is unique in the fact that it focuses solely on the offensive and defensive line play. The camp is designed to stress fundamentals, while polishing skills and techniques. The camp consists of both classroom training (film study and chalk talk) and on-field training.

Mike Nolan Coaching Clinic

The Mike Nolan Coaching Clinic made its debut in 2008. The event is designed specifically for high school and college level coaches. 49ers Head Coach Mike Nolan and his coaching staff teach the fundamental skills of coaching. Participants receive specialized classroom instruction on offense, defense and special teams.

49ers 7-on-7 Tournament

High school teams from across the Bay Area compete in this one day 7-on-7 tournament hosted at the 49ers training facility. The 7-on-7 passing tournament is a great way for high school football players to practice their skills and prepare themselves for their upcoming fall football season.

49ers/NFL Flag Regional Tournament

In conjunction with the NFL, the 49ers host the annual NFL Flag Regional Tournament at the 49ers facility. Approximately 400 children take part in the day-long, round robin tournament. Winners receive an all-expense paid trip to Disney's Wide World of Sports® Complex in Orlando, FL and the chance to participate in the National Tournament of Champions.

Play Football Month

In conjunction with the NFL and USA Football, the 49ers celebrate the annual Play Football Month to encourage kids to play America's favorite sport. Throughout the entire Play Football Month, events are held in towns across America including clinics, skill competitions, scrimmages, picnics and parades. The 49ers provide tickets to preseason games to kids who complete a youth football clinic or Gatorade Junior Training Camp. In addition, 4,000 tickets are distributed to various Pop Warner, high school football and Police Athletic League teams.

Charlie Wedemeyer Coach of the Week Presented by Kelly-Moore Paints

For more than 10 years, the 49ers have taken part in the NFL's Coach of the Week program, designed to aid and promote youth football and give high school coaches the recognition they deserve. The 49ers award, the "Charlie Wedemeyer Coach of the Week Award," is named after former Los Gatos High School head coach Charlie Wedemeyer. The encouraging example that Charlie set is an inspiration not only to coaches, but to the Bay Area community as a whole. Each week during the high school football season, the 49ers select one football coach as the Coach of the Week winner. Each winner receives a $1,000 donation from the 49ers Foundation for their football program and a $500 gift certificate from Kelly-Moore Paints to go toward beautifying their school. At the end of the season, one coach will be recognized as Coach of the Year and will receive a $2,000 donation.

49ers High School Player of the Week

The 49ers recognize a high school football player each week during the high school football season. The award is open to student-athletes playing on varsity football teams at public and private high schools in the Bay Area. The award recognizes the outstanding achievements made by players both on and off the field. The chosen player is recognized with an award and certificate.

49ers/USA Football Coaching School

In partnership with USA Football, the 49ers host an annual Coaching School at the 49ers facility. Members of the 49ers coaching staff take part in a portion of the day-long clinic providing top-notch football instruction to more than 100 local Bay Area youth football coaches. Participants learn ways to develop and organize a team, teach the proper fundamentals, implement drills and communicate with players, parents and other coaches.

49ers Head Coach Mike Nolan, Charlie Wedemeyer and the 2007 Coach of the Week winners.

49ers/USA Football Officiating School

Join USA Football and the San Francisco 49ers for a comprehensive one-day seminar at the 49ers Training Facility in Santa Clara. Tony Michalek, Super Bowl XLII Umpire, and Bill LeMonnier, Orange Bowl Referee, will lead this entertaining and educational workshop. High school and collegiate officials will learn from NFL and Division I officials during a full day of comprehensive training. Unique and interesting plays from the 2007 high school and college seasons will be used to discuss mechanics, philosophy and rules applications for all levels of officiating. Lunch and giveaways are included.

49ers/USA Football State Forum

The 49ers host USA Football's Northern California State Leadership Forum at the Club's facility for youth football administrators from around the state. The USA Football state forum meeting provides the volunteer leaders with the opportunity to come together and discuss key issues and collective goals that will help improve the youth football experience for players, parents, coaches, administrators and officials statewide.

Junior Player Development (JPD)

The NFL developed a youth tackle football program for children ages 12-14. The program is designed to teach participants every football position step-by-step. Attendees receive instruction from NFL-selected high school coaches in the Bay Area. JPD programs are made available at various locations across the Bay Area.

High School Player Development (HSPD)

HSPD provides incoming fall season sophomores, juniors and seniors a program focusing on academic counseling as well as specific football skill training by position. HSPD programs are made available at various locations across the Bay Area.
